Buddha, After 2,500 Years

One day, so the legend runs, there came to Buddha, meditating under a tree, a woman with a child in her arms.

"Oh, Gracious One," she said, sobbing, "give me medicine that I may cure my sick child."

The Buddha looked and saw the child was dead. He saw, too, the mother knew.

"Very well," he said, "I will cure the child. But, I must have a mustard seed. And it must be a seed borrowed from a family in yonder village which has never known death."

In late evening the woman returned, dry-eyed.

"Lord Buddha," she said, "you have shown me the error of selfish grief. Give me time to bury my child and I will return and follow thee."

This week India, and all the Buddhist world, begins celebration of the death of Lord Buddha. This death took place roughly 2,500 years ago—more than half a century before Jesus of Nazareth was born at Bethlehem.

Construction of a new commemorative monument will be begun by Prime Minister Nehru, who will lay the cornerstone in New Delhi and proclaim the year-long celebration.

May, 563 B.C., generally is accepted as the birth date of the man whose teachings converted many millions. His religion now is having resurgence along with the rise of nationalism in the Buddhist countries.

Teachings

The Buddha, originally a young prince, was born, say the teachings, of a virgin who was mysteriously conceived by a lotus flower. He was reared in great riches, luxury and was well supplied, according to the custom, with mistresses and dancing girls. His doting parents sought to keep from him any knowledge of the harshness of life, of pain or grief.

But, he learned by slipping away and seeing life about the palace, in the villages and countryside. His parents redoubled their efforts to entertain and divert him. The most beautiful girls in all India were brought before him. One he chose as bride. The father built a great palace for them and all about it was beauty. A child was born. At 29 the son, still brooding, stole away one night and encountered a burial party on the way to the ghat; met an old, starving beggar, saw the misery of poverty and the sorrow of parents grieving for children dead.

He returned to the palace, took one look at his wife and child, and departed, penniless. He donned the robe of a beggar and set out on foot. For six years he sought wisdom, begging his food, sitting at the feet of wise men and sages. He tried fasting, self-torture . . . there was no answer. One day, meditating under a pipal tree the answer came in a flash: Since pain and sin are caused by desire, the way to peace is to stop desiring. The Four Noble Truths came to his mind:

All who live suffer.

All suffering is due to desire which can never be satisfied.

Suffering will end when desire is suppressed.

Psychic

Today modern psychologists point out that 2,500 years ago Buddha discovered a fact now basic to psychiatric treatment—peace of mind can be obtained by control of emotional desires within reasonable limits. He was the first to preach that inner peace comes to man by control of his own mind.

He began to preach "The Middle Way."

He denounced the "Four Intoxications": sensuality, pride of life, ignorance, idle speculation, which in turn produce the hindrances of life: fleshliness, arrogance, laziness, worry and hesitation.

His ten commandments are close to those brought down from the mountain by Moses. He taught reverence for life. He disowned violence.

Buddhism is strong in Japan, Ceylon, Burma, Thailand, Tibet and has thousands of followers in India and other neighboring countries. Hinduism, the world's oldest religion, managed to absorb much of its strength.

Today, Buddhism is being made an instrument of nationalism in countries striving for a cultural and spiritual foundation of their own. Even in India there is a revival . . . with Hindu Nehru cheerfully assisting.

150 Million Power Plant For Ga., Ala.

Dixie Boom Brings Million KW Project

Georgia Power Co. and Alabama Power Co. Friday announced plans to build jointly a $150 million steam-electric generating plant on the Coosa River to serve both states.

The new plant, to be located near the coal fields in Alabama, will have an ultimate capacity of one million kilowatts when completed in 1963.

This is a third as much as the existing generating capacities of the two companies, excluding proposed plants or generating plants now under construction.

NEAR GEORGIA

Precise location of the plant has not been decided but Birmingham sources said the development would be somewhere in the Shelby-St. Clair-Talladega County area. That would place it somewhere between Alabama Power's present Lay Dam and its proposed Kelly Creek Dam, about 75 miles from the Georgia state line.

The plant will consist of four 250,000 - kilowatt steam - electric generating units. Two of these units are scheduled for completion in 1961 at a cost set at $75 million.

The other two are to be finished by 1963.

The new plant is expected to add momentum to an industrial boom now in prospect for the area and will provide a major boost to Alabama's sagging coal industry.

The four giant units will require 2½ million tons of coal a year. At present, Alabama's total production is 12 to 13 million tons annually.

FUEL SUPPLY

Georgia Power officials said the fuel supply will come from the Cahaba and Warrior fields and will be hauled overland. It might be transported by a conveyor belt system, a powdered coal pipeline, a short-line railroad or a combination of the three.

Harllee Branch Jr., president of Georgia Power Co., announced plans for the new plant as an application for approval of preliminary steps looking toward construction of the plant was filed with the Georgia Public Service Commission.

Similar applications also were filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission at Washington and with the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Branch said the Coosa River location will put the plant within easy reach of many of Georgia's largest load centers.

He pointed out it is now cheaper to ship electricity into Georgia over transmission lines than to

Democratic Convention Manager Out

CHICAGO, May 18 (UP)—William Neale Roach said tonight he has resigned his position as convention manager for the Democratic National Committee.

Roach, reached at a Chicago hotel, said he turned in his resignation about two weeks ago.

He declined to comment further and refused to say why he was in Chicago at this time.

Roach, 43, of Bethesda, Md., served as convention manager for the Democratic Party in 1948 and again in 1952. He was an assistant manager in 1944.

Gavin Urges Mobility For Atomic Weapons

Atomic weapons, missiles and mobility are the three most important aspects of our military program, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, the Army's missile chief, said here Friday.

Gavin spoke at an Armed Forces Day luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel, which was followed by a parade of military units down Peachtree street.

The luncheon and parade kicked off a two-day Armed Forces Day observance that will include an all-day open house at Dobbins Air Force Base and Lockheed Aircraft Corp., near Marietta, and an aerial show at Dobbins Saturday.

STRIKING POWER

Gavin, chief of Army research and head of the Army's missile program, stressed the need for atomic weapons in the country's armed forces.

He said that because of the development of such powerful weapons, there is a need for "great mobility" in the armed forces.

Gavin said this country has a "fine missile program." He said, "Our surface-to-air missile is the best that I know of in existence."

He predicted that this country will develop adequate defenses against enemy missiles. "We will have defenses against missiles," he said, "perhaps inadequate at first. But they will be developed."

'BATTLESHIP' ROLLS

Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine units marched in the 15-minute parade, the second of the day for Peachtree street.

A U.S. Naval Air Station float depicting a warship, which scored a hit in the Cerebral Palsy parade earlier Friday, again thrilled the crowds with the firing of blanks from an automatic weapon.

The parade, led by the Third Army band, also included several color guards, ROTC units, National Guard troops and tanks, Civil Defense units and veterans' organizations.

RETREAT PARADE

A Navy blimp will pass over Atlanta Saturday to signal the start of the open house and air show at Dobbins and Lockheed. Open house will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at both places.

An air show, featuring top-flight military craft, will begin at 1 p.m. Other events include 2½ hours of entertainment by the Third Army Special Services and an all-services parade with a 300-man marching unit from Ft. Benning and Georgia Military Academy.

Ike's Protest Cuts Capital Jet Display

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Air Force plans for the mightiest display of atomic jet bomber strength ever flown over Washington were sharply curtailed today.

The aerial show, scheduled for tomorrow's celebration of Armed Forces Day, was cut from 216 B47 atomic bombers to 45.

Pentagon officials attributed the cutback to fears by some high civilian officials that the proposed demonstration of air-atomic power might create an unfavorable world reaction, especially in view of current emphasis on disarmament efforts.

Protests against the mass flight had been made by private aircraft owners and pilots, who cited the hazards of a low-level flight at jet speeds, but Pentagon officials said privately that the pressure had come from such places as the White House and Harold E. Stassen's disarmament office.

Elaborate plans had been made by the Strategic Air Command to assemble B47s from widely separated bases for tomorrow's demonstration of 'Power for Peace," which is the Armed Forces Day slogan.

The decision to cut down was conveyed by Secretary of Defense Wilson to Secretary of the Air Force Quarles. Wilson said it was determined after a practice flight Wednesday that "one wing of the B47s would provide adequate representation for that phase of the aerial demonstration."

The Air Force still expects to go through with a low-level flyover by one B52 heavy jet bomber and a number of supersonic fighters and slower jet fighter-bombers.

Stevenson, McKay Grab Leads in Oregon Voting

PORTLAND, Ore., May 18 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson stepped into the lead over Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee in early, fragmentary returns in Oregon's Democratic presidential primary today.

The first results from 56 of the state's 2,519 precincts gave Stevenson 804 to 478 for Kefauver in their write-in contest. Stevenson was outpolling his rival, 2-1, in Portland's Multnomah County where his supporters counted on their heaviest vote.

President Eisenhower, unopposed on the Republican preferential ticket, started off with a com- About one out of three Republican ballots tabulated at the outset carried a write-in of Vice President Nixon for renomination. The write-in is binding on Oregon delegates to the party's national convention.

Eisenhower drew 2,274 votes fom 56 precincts.

Former Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay went out in front of his aggressive opponent, Phil Hitchcock of Portland, in the GOP race for the Senate nomination to oppose Sen. Wayne Morse (D) in November.

The vote from 56 precincts: McKay 1,660; Hitchcock, 997.

The election turnout was fairly heavy throughout the state, particularly in the Portland area where more than 30 per cent of the registration is centered. A long ballot slowed the tabulation, however.

Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver appeared on any of the myriad ballots—up to five in some areas. They staked their pitch for the state's 16 Democratic delegates on a late-starting write-in campaign.

U.S., Costa Rica Sign Atom Pact

WASHINGTON, May 18 (UP)—The United States signed an "atoms for peace" agreement with Costa Rica today, the 30th nation to sign such a pact.

Under the arrangement, the United States will provide information on construction and operation of research reactors. It also will lease Costa Rica up to 13.2 pounds of uranium to operate a research reactor.

Panel Drops Red-Trade Bar on Aid

Defers Final Vote On $1 Billion Cut

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, May 18 — The House Foreign Affairs Committee Friday knocked out an anti-Iron Curtain trade stricture that it had added Thursday to the Eisenhower administration's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid bill.

The rider, had it survived, would have shut off all forms of assistance to those nations — principally Britain—that continued to send to the Soviet Union and satellites items of possible military value that the United States itself is unwilling to export.

RESPONSE TO PRESSURE

The committee's overnight reversal after 24 hours of reflection was in response to pressure from the administration and leading Democrats alike.

The measure itself remained in grave trouble, however. In a series of provisional committee votes, an effort to cut some $1,000,000,000 from its $3,000,000,000 military assistance section was barely beaten off.

That issue will arise again Tuesday when the committee assembles in expectation of completing its work on the bill.

SPONSORED BY KELLY

All available information indicated that if the military provision emerged intact, it would be by a very narrow margin.

The antitrade rider, which had been adopted in a closed session by an undisclosed margin, had been sponsored by Rep. Kelly (D-NY).

The committee chairman, Rep. Richards (D-SC), had opposed Mrs. Kelly's enterprise. The motion to discard it was made, however, by Rep. Morano (R-Conn). The details of the voting were not made public.

TWICE-TENTATIVE

There never had been any great danger that the rider would eventually prevail in Congress. Foreign policy leaders, however, had feared that in its present temper the House itself would approve it and thus put upon them the added burden of destroying it in the Senate.

All that is now being done by the House committee is twice-tentative.

It is passing only upon an authorizing measure for the foreign

Textile Union Rebuffs Dixie To Condemn Citizens Councils

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The Textile Workers Union convention Friday adopted a resolution denouncing white Citizens Councils despite pleas by most Southern delegates to table it.

The Southerners opposing the resolution argued the convention action would make doubly hard the job of organizing textile workers in the South and probably cause many already organized workers to quit the union.

Emil Rieve, retiring union president elected chairman of the union's executive council, agreed the resolution probably would hurt the union temporarily in the South but insisted racial equality was a moral issue the union could not duck.

The resolution called on President Eisenhower to convene a conference of Southern governors and provide "other moral leadership for the peaceful and orderly transition to an unsegregated public school system." The white Citizens Councils are dedicated to preserving school segregation.

The resolution was approved by a standing vote, apparently 2 to 1.

The protesting Southern delegates walked out of the convention in a body after losing the vote but leaders said they would stay in the union.

E. T. Kirkland, Local 254, Columbia, S.C., said "We're not walking out—I'll be a member of the union until I die."

Kirkland had argued that the resolution jeopardizes the prospect of Southern delegates returning to the next TWU convention. He said his local had 99 Negro members and all had supported his position and opposed school integration.

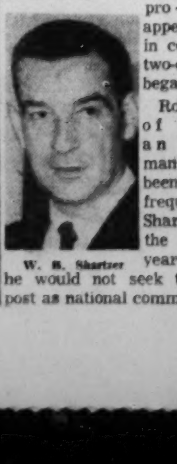
Kirkland said the Southern racial problem would work out in time "if we are left alone" but said the union was "not going to do it through force."

Georgia GOPs Expected to Choose Shartzer, Snodgrass Here Today

By ALBERT RILEY

Despite some rumblings of discontent, Georgia Republicans convened here Friday apparently in a mood to reelect William B. Shartzer as state chairman and nominate Robert R. Snodgrass as national committeeman.

Election of officers will be held Saturday but the Shartzer-Snodgrass wing of the party, strongly pro-Eisenhower, appeared firmly in control as the two-day meeting began.



W. B. Shartzer

Roscoe Tucker of Dawsonville, an Eisenhower man who has been at odds frequently with Shartzer during the past four years, announced he would not seek to retain his post as national committeeman.

However, the appearance at the convention of Roy Foster of Wadley and Roscoe Pickett of Atlanta indicated some battles may be shaping up in the election of officers and delegates-at-large to the GOP national convention.

Foster and Pickett were leaders of the old Taft wing of the state party that lost power in the 1952 national convention battle between Eisenhower and the late Sen. Taft for the presidential nomination.

As one of the largest GOP conventions in Georgia's history convened at Municipal Auditorium, the delegates elected Randolph Thrower of Atlanta as temporary convention chairman.

And they heard Thrower, who is slated to become permanent convention chairman Saturday, declare the Republican party is "the only hope for eliminating the undemocratic county unit system with which the Democratic party of Georgia has plagued us."

The delegates applauded repeatedly as their keynote speaker, Congressman Tom Curtis of Missouri, hailed the GOP as the party of "prosperity and peace."

Curtis did not exactly pin the "war party" label on the Democrats, but he came close as he also accused the Democrats of being "prophets of gloom and doom."

Charging them with demagoguery, Curtis said the Democrats had full knowledge of factors that were leading toward war in 1916, 1940 and 1948 when they went before the voters of the nation and promised peace.

The Missourian said he brought

PRETTY GIRLS DO THEIR BIT IN PALSY DRIVE

Top-Hatted "Newsies" Lend Glamor to Big Parade

Palsied Children Smile Thanks in Big Parade

Crippled children smiled their thanks at thousands of Atlantans who line Peachtree street Friday for a 30-minute parade that highlighted Old Newsboys Day—the annual sale of a special edition of The Atlanta Constitution and The Atlanta Journal.

Proceeds of the sale go to the Atlanta Cerebral Palsy School and Clinic. Reports of sales early Saturday indicated the total will run over $90,000—just under the $100,000 goal set for the year.

Old Newsboys Day has raised more than $287,000 for palsied children in five previous sales. This year's total is greatest so far.

Beautiful girls, snappy marching bands and merry-making clowns vied for attention in the colorful parade. The crowds along Peachtree street responded with loud applause.

But in this mixture of a somber subject and a gay parade, the palsied children themselves captured the crowd. They waved from buses and open cars. Some of the more seriously afflicted moved their arms with the aid of their mothers or nurses.

The parade included 10 bands, several floats, the "Palomino Posse" of Fulton County Sheriff Ralph Grimes, fire trucks, sports cars, antique automobiles, the Yaarab Arab Guard, Red Devils and other units.

A Marine color guard and convertibles carrying Mayor Hartsfield and other dignitaries led the parade.

A U.S. Naval Air Station float, resembling a small warship, thrilled the crowds with the firing of blanks from automatic weapons. For a television cameraman, the firing was nerve-racking at one point. The gunner cut loose with a burst at close range after a Navy radioman at

Ike Golfing Again

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — President Eisenhower played golf this afternoon at Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland. It was the second time he had gone there this week.

Somewhat Lower Grain Props Voted

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, May 18—The administration won a major victory on the domestic farm front tonight but lost on the international front as the Senate wrapped up a second election-year farm bill. Final passage was on voice vote.

It gives President Eisenhower the $1,200,000,000 soil bank proposed by the administration and modified price support raising features that officials said appeared acceptable to the President.

It now goes to the House. The bill is a House bill amended by the Senate. The House bill was passed last week. House farm leaders said they would seek a compromise between the two versions. But Senate farm leaders expected little trouble on the measure to replace the farm bill vetoed by the President April 16.

ERASE VEXING CLAUSE

The Senate turned down the principle of mandatory price supports on more feed grains to give the administration its big victory after two days of debate on the farm bill. It did so on a decisive roll-call vote of 74 to 14. The vote gave a higher price support to oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums, but eliminated a complex section that was a major cause of the President's veto of the original omnibus farm bill.

On the other hand, the Senate three times rebuffed the President and Secretary of State Dulles, who wanted killed provisions on cotton and rice that they were fearful would hurt U.S. relations with foreign countries.

Democrats and Republicans jumped on the State Department and the President for seeking to eliminate from the bill a directive that surplus cotton be sold on world markets at competitive prices.

After a torrent of angry words, the Senate voted down the administration's proposal by a roll-call vote of 71 to 13.

PROTECT FLEECE

It then proceeded to shout down amendments aimed at killing the bill's provision for limiting imports of long staple of extra fine cotton and a two-price system for rice.

The Senate heard charges that

Nike vs. Talos Test Demanded in Senate

Money Blocked Until Missiles Are Tried Against Bombers

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee has decided to demand a showdown duel between the Army Nike and the Air Force Talos missiles before voting any more money for either, a member said today.

The senator, who asked that his name not be used, told newsmen that the Armed Services subcommittee regards the two anti-aircraft missiles as competing weapons.

He said the group will issue a report within two weeks demanding that the two be pitted against modern jet bombers to determine which is the more effective weapon.

DEFENSE IS MUM

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), who originally proposed such a duel, said he understands both the Army and Air Force are agreeable to the match. But he said the Defense Department, which has the final say, has made no decision.

The Army already has established Nike installations to provide anti-aircraft protection for a number of key cities. But the Air Force wants to install its own Talos system around some of its bases.

The Army has complained to the subcommittee that the Air Force, by developing the Talos in the first place, invaded its anti-aircraft mission.

FAVORS BOTH

Lt. Gen. Donald L. Putt, chief of Air Force research, said he believes both the Air Force and the Army should be allowed to build their own anti-aircraft systems.

He said that the Nike and Talos are complementary rather than competitive. Putt said that the Talos, with its 50-mile minimum range, is designed primarily for "area defense," while the Nike, with its shorter range, is suited for what he called "point defense."

The Army is developing newer versions of the Nike to extend its present 25-mile range. Like the original, the new versions will be guided by ground radar to their targets.

Panel To Air Reds Troop Slash Vow

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Russia's announced plans for a big reduction in military forces will be reviewed by President Eisenhower's special eight-man panel of nuclear, military and industrial leaders starting May 29, Harold E. Stassen announced today.

Stassen told a news conference that the special group formed by Eisenhower last summer will assemble in Washington a week from Tuesday to begin an analysis of the "implications" of the Soviet announcement, along with the recent London disarmament talks which reached no conclusion.

HOW TO RESPOND?

The eight task force leaders presumably will recommend what moves if any this country should take in response to Moscow's announcement of last Monday that Soviet military forces will be reduced by 1,200,000 men.

Members of the group and the subjects assigned to them as disarmament consultants are:

Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, nuclear; Gen. James H. Doolittle, air; Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, army; Adm. Oswald S. Colclough, navy; Benjamin Fairless, steel; Walker L. Cisler, power and industry; Dr. Harold Moulton, military budgets; and Dr. James B. Fisk, communications.

They went over the proposals which Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, took with him to the London conference, where he conferred with Soviet and other leaders.

MAY BE DIVIDEND

At his news conference Stassen evidenced must less skepticism than other officials have expressed concerning the Russian announcement of military manpower cuts. He said it could be "a desirable dividend" for President Eisenhower's peace policy.

He disagreed with reporters suggested he might be out of step with the White House and State Department, both of which had voiced essentially negative reactions.

Asserting his attitude had to be measured in full context against the reactions of Secretary of State Dulles and the White House, Stassen said:

"The Soviet move may be a wish on their part to continue negotiations in an endeavor to reach a comprehensive agreement on the control of armaments. . . .

"As I see it, it is extremely important that the free world neither exaggerate nor underestimate. . . Neither be gullible nor cynical, but take a balanced approach."

Wilson Plans No New Slash In U.S. Arms

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said flatly tonight the United States will maintain its armed forces at the present 2,850,000-man level for the indefinite future.

Wilson's announcement to an Armed Forces Day dinner was the official U.S. answer to Russia's recent announcement that it will trim Soviet military manpower by 1,200,000 to meet manpower shortages on Red farms and factories.

"There is no clear indication that the world situation has improved to the point where we can importantly modify our policy of strength for the long pull," Wilson said.

Youths Reared To Worship Stalin Hear Lenin Condemned Him in '23

MOSCOW, May 18 (AP)—A generation of Soviet youth nurtured on Stalin worship, with the idea that Stalin was Lenin's most beloved disciple, got a new version today—that Lenin condemned Stalin in 1923.

This came about in the most savage assault on Stalin yet published here. It was in Komsomol Pravda, Soviet youth paper. A column called "A Children's Guide to Stalinism," assertedly written in response to letters from children, related that Lenin had warned the Communist party against Stalin. It used words taken from the famous document usually known as the "Testament for Lenin," the revolutionary leader Communists hold by.

Some of Lenin's harsh words on Stalin were cited in Pravda on Nov. 2, 1927—in a speech by Stalin himself. This speech was made at the party meeting where Stalin scored his final victory over his archenemy Leon Trotsky—forcing his expulsion from the party. Stalin quoted Lenin's criticism and then went on to attempt to refute it.

But Lenin's words on Stalin came as news to Komsomol Pravda's audience—for Lenin's "testament" has been mentioned here only obliquely in the last 20 years or more.

Lenin penned his attack on Stalin in December 1922 and January 1923, over a year before Lenin died but at a time when he was partly incapacitated.

He wrote that Stalin was "too rude" and that this trait was intolerable in the office of Communist general secretary. He said Stalin's comrades should find a way to replace him in this office with someone more patient, loyal, polite and attentive to comrades—and less captious.

Komsomol Pravda said today: "Lenin in the last year of his life pointed out that such negative features of Stalin's character as rudeness, lack of respect for working comrades, capriciousness and inclination toward abuse of power could lead to the violation of the rules of collective leadership. Unfortunately it happened so."

Komsomol Pravda did not go on to point out that Lenin announced in March 1923 he had broken off all comradely relations with Stalin.

Komsomol Pravda explained that Stalin had done much during the Revolution, during the struggle against Nikolai Bukharin and Trotsky to win "popularity with the people and support of the party but gradually this trust and respect was transformed into adoration of Stalin and the cult of his personality."

It continued:

"All the greatest victories were achieved owing to the persistence, labor and heroism of millions of the Soviet people, but in our propaganda — newspapers, magazines and films—all were explained by his personal merits. Stalin himself did not object but on the contrary supported and encouraged this glorification in every possible way. Many books, films and paintings were made which praised J. V. Stalin to the skies.

"The role of the party and people was diminished or was not depicted at all. His monuments were erected everywhere. J. V. Stalin started solving all questions himself. That brought much harm, for one person cannot know everything and solve everything correctly."

Rep. Powell Denies Kickback; Aide Guilty of Tax Dodging

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's congressional secretary was convicted by a federal court jury today of income tax evasion.

Mrs. Hattie Freeman Dodson's 11-day trial was highlighted by testimony that she kicked back her secretarial salary to the Democratic Negro congressman from New York. Powell, however, took the witness stand to deny he ever received any salary kickback from her.

SHE WEEPS

Mrs. Dodson wept in her husband's arms when the case went to the jury shortly after noon. But she was in full control of her emotions three and a half hours later when the 10 men and two women on the panel pronounced her guilty of all nine counts in the indictment.

Mrs. Dodson faces a maximum 45 years in prison and $90,000 in fines when she is sentenced June 4.

The Negro woman is one of three present or former secretaries of Powell to face income tax evasion charges. The other two, both men, have pleaded innocent and are awaiting trial.

CALLED CHEAT

Mrs. Dodson was accused of cheating the government out of $5,000 in income taxes from 1948 to 1952 and of collecting $2,000 in illegal tax refunds.

Defense attorney Frederick Block charged the government's prosecution of Mrs. Dodson was a fishing expedition to try to get something on Powell. Once behind bars Mrs. Dodson would be "brainwashed" for evidence against the congressman, Block said.

However, the government called her guilty of tax cheating, whether or not there was a salary kickback. Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas A. Bolan told the jury Mrs. Dodson listed in her tax returns "a whole flock of fake dependents."

YEARLY PAY

Mrs. Dodson drew between $3,200 and $5,200 a year as Powell's congressional secretary. In addition, she got $3,200 as business secretary of the congressman's Harlem church. Her husband, Howard, drew $3,000 a year also as the church choirmaster.

Dodson went on trial with his wife May 7 but was cleared of tax fraud charges midway in the case. Mrs. Dodson filed a joint return with her husband on their church income and a separate return in her maiden name on her congressional salary.

Joseph E. Ford, tax consultant and former campaign manager for Powell, said Mrs. Dodson told him she kicked back her congressional salary to Powell but filed a return on it to take advantage of a refund. Mrs. Dodson was continued free in $500 bail pending sentence.

Intangibles Tax Cut Expected To Cost Half Million

The Atlanta and Fulton County governments will lose a half-million dollars this year in revenue because of a two-thirds reduction in taxes on intangible property, Chief Deputy Tax Commissioner Standish Thompson says.

Thompson, in an address to the May Luncheon for Planners, said the revenue loss is due to a reduction in the intangibles levy from $3 to $1 per $1,000 in value. This rate, by an act of the General Assembly will be cut to 10 cents per $1,000 next year reducing this revenue even further, he added.

French Stick to NATO But Reds Cheer Anyway

MOSCOW, May 18 (AP)—French and Soviet leaders ended their talks without agreement today. But a crowd of cheering Russians mobbed them anyway in a strange and moving scene of jubilation and camaraderie.

The crowd of about 500 Russians gathered in the dusk outside the French Embassy. Inside were Premiere Guy Mollet of France and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and the Soviet leaders, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and the party secretary, Nikita Khrushchev.

STICKS TO NATO

The leaders were touching up a communique on the three days of talks. A high Western diplomat said the talks finally had convinced the Russians that France would not sever its military alliance with the West.

As Mollet and Khrushchev stepped out in the street, a crowd pinned back by militia on the opposite side broke into a roar of applause.

Then Khrushchev brought on a new demonstration. He grabbed Mollet impulsively by the arm and walked across to the crowd. He began extending his hand across the militiamen's shoulders to the people.

BIG DEMONSTRATION

The Russians broke through the cordon and for a few minutes Mollet and Khrushchev disappeared in the milling throng.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Pineau and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who were following, were swept up, pushed, elbowed and lost in the crowd.

Photographers on the balcony above turned on floodlights. Other photographers clambered on Bulganin's car.

Aghast at this unaccustomed outbreak, militiamen tried to rally their forces but were swamped by the crowd.

KISSES BABY

A woman slapped Molotov exuberantly on the back, another shoved a child at Khrushchev. He rose boisterously to the occasion and kissed the baby on both cheeks.

Bulganin tried to maintain his dignity but a couple of youths clung grimly on his sleeve.

Finally the conferees reached their cars and gave a last sweeping wave as the party drove off.

COMPROMISE OUT

The diplomatic source said Mollet told NATO ambassadors at a luncheon earlier today no agreement was reached and neither side suggested one.

"The French and Soviet positions were so far apart that there was tacit understanding no possibility of compromise existed," the Western diplomat said, and added: "About the most important result of the talks, according to Mollet, was that the Russians were finally convinced France will not give up her NATO ties."

Cross Burned Near Home of Archbishop

NEW ORLEANS, May 18 (AP)—A huge fiery cross, symbol of the Ku Klux Klan, flared up early today near a prointegration archbishop's home shortly after a meeting of a new organization likened to the old Klan.

Acting New Orleans Police Supt. Guy Bannister immediately ordered a complete report and investigation of the cross-burning to determine if it signified a possible rebirth of the Klan itself in this area.

"Cross burning is one of the operational methods of the Klan," he said. "And I want to find out if it has any connection with the rebirth of the Klan.

The eight-foot cross, soaked with gasoline and made from four two-by-four-inch planks, was set ablaze and planted against a fence which surrounds the Notre Dame Seminary. The official residence of Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel, a strong advocate of integration, is located on the seminary, about a block from where the cross was burned.

U.S. Vehicles Taken Off Israeli Ship

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The State Department said today 21 half-track military vehicles were taken off an Israel-bound ship last Monday because they lacked a valid export license.

Press officer Lincoln White said an inspector discovered the vehicles were completely assembled whereas the licenses covered only spare parts.

ON ISRAELI SHIP ZION

White said the 21 half-tracks were aboard the Israeli ship Zion in New York Harbor. He said it could not be said that either the State Department or the Customs Office blocked this shipment.

He said the half-tracks were taken off the ship because the two agencies "had no alternative" under U. S. law requiring export licenses for all shipments of a military character. He refused to say, however, whether it could be called "illegal" or "attempted smuggling."

"I do not characterize," White said. "I tell you what the facts are."

SELLER NOT KNOWN

He also said:

"If there is anything dishonest in this, I'm unaware of it."

White told reporters the export license for half-track spare parts was issued to the Israel Purchasing Commission, an agency of the Israeli government.

He said he did not know where the half-tracks were purchased but he commented that "many companies in New York sell Army surplus."

He said Israel has applied for export licenses for half-tracks fully assembled. But he said this application has not been acted upon.

Domestic Farm Victory For Ike; Cotton Plea Loses

the State Department was seeking to "appease" some countries, including Egypt, a cotton exporting country, and Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and trying to "dictate" to the Senate by insisting on a roll-call vote.

As the bill stands, the most objectionable features for the administration are the directive on sales of surplus cotton for export at world prices, the two-price system for wheat and a one-year freeze on parity prices for wheat, corn and peanuts.

But Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), administration spokesman on farm matters in the Senate, believed that the bill as modified by the Senate would get Eisenhower's approval.

Aiken and Sen. Anderson (D-NM) who aided in rewriting sections of the bill on the Senate floor, expressed hope the House would accept quickly the numerous changes.

Sen. Ellender (La.) Democratic chairman of the senate agriculture committee, also was confident the house would take the bill without a conference. He and other Democrats and Republicans joined in calling for a rapid wind-up on farm legislation to get some relief to farmers yet this year.

The bill, as passed by the House and Senate, was stripped of all its major price boosting features that the President found so obnoxious in the vetoed farm bill.

The Senate, however, accepted an administration compromise on the feed grains. The Senate settled the quarrel by raising the price supports to 76 per cent of parity and providing that if a price support program is in effect next year for corn grown outside of federal controls, then the feed grains will get a price support of not less than 70 per cent of parity, or the present level of support.

Eisenhower, in vetoing the first farm measure, guaranteed for the first time in history, price support of $1.25 a bushel to corn producers who ignore federal acreage restrictions. Heretofore, compliance with controls has been a condition of eligibility for price supports.

The House bill would have tied feed grains directly to corn, set up provisions for government controls and compelled producers to put a part of their land into the soil bank to get price subsidies.

aid program, which must yet be cleared by the House itself, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and then the Senate itself.

After all this, separate legislation actually providing the money must be enacted. House authorizing action now is not expected before week after next. Senate action thus lies several weeks in the distance.

The most significant of the day's events involved what Richards described as a very close call for the military assistance section.

Richards, himself an advocate of a "substantial" reduction, reported that motions to make a cut of about $1,000,000,000 were hard fought and that no one occasion only a tie vote saved the day.

It was at length decided, since there were several weekend committee absentees, to postpone the whole business until Tuesday.

The committee did go forward to two less important decisions before quitting for the week.

It voted to increase to $10,000,000 from $5,000,000 the administration's allocation for defense support to Guatemala.

It also voted to limit to $350,000 the amount of aid to any country for atomic reactors or furnaces, in the administration's plan to assist in the peaceful development of that force.

It was stipulated also that recipients of reactors should be clearly advised that they came from the United States.

3 Georgians Sentenced in Burglary Plot

GREENSBORO, N.C., May 18 (AP). Three Georgia men were given terms in Central Prison today by Superior Court Judge Allen H. Gwyn, who sharply criticized the testimony of the state's principal witness, C. A. (Tip) Anderson.

Sentenced on charges of conspiracy to break and enter and possession of burglary tools were Thomas Wesley Fox, 47, Palmetto, Ga., attorney; Elmo Liston Florence, 27, Atlanta mechanic, and Charles Douglas Phillips, 27, Atlanta interior decorator.

Fox and Florence received 10 years each and Phillips six to eight years.

Fox's 22-year-old son, indicted on the same charges, was sentenced to four to six years. Judge Gwyn suspended the sentence for five years. The four all pleaded no contest.

a personal message from President Eisenhower, wishing the Georgians Godspeed in their efforts to build a strong two-party system in the South.

Southern Democrats have done the South a disservice, he said by "forming an unholy alliance with gangster-ridden city political machines in the North."

The GOP and not the Democrats is the party of the little people, Curtis declared. This, he said, has been proven by the Eisenhower administration's stabilizing the purchasing power of the dollar.

Inflation under the Democrats became the "rottenest form of taxation," he declared as he promised the Eisenhower administration eventually will increase the dollar's purchasing power.

Although there was some unemployment in 1954, there was no depression as Democrats had prophesied, Curtis said. He said unemployment was caused by the shift from a war to a peace economy, with 750,000 members of the armed forces and 300,000 war workers absorbed into civilian jobs.

Farm problems today, he added, are due to the same changeover from war to peace economy as other nations begin producing their own food.

As the convention's first session recessed late Friday, contests over the seating of delegates were taken up by the credentials committee, headed by Charles Moye of Decatur. There were contests from Tattnall and Muscogee counties, with similar fights impending from Bibb, Telfair and Appling.

A sizable percentage of the delegates were Negroes, but the ratio of white delegates appeared to be considerably larger than in former years.

Indictions were the convention Saturday will name, as delegates-at-large to the national convention, Shartzer, Snodgrass, W. J. Shaw of Atlanta and Reid Mull of Blue Ridge, and nominate Mrs. Marvin Elliott of Macon for national committeewoman. W. J. Shaw is slated to become secretary.

Although many of the marchers perspired freely under the brilliant sun, the hottest job belonged to a clown who wore a heavy fur coat. He wore a red sailor cap bearing the words "wife saver" and beneath his coat, which he threw open now and then, he wore an old fashioned, red and white striped bathing suit.

Marching between the parade units were the old newsboys, wearing high hats and yellow aprons, selling the special Cerebral Palsy Edition of The Atlanta Constitution and Journal.

Harold Spears, chief barker of the Variety Club, which co-sponsors Old Newsboys Day, said the sale of newspapers would continue through Friday night.

transport coal from the distant mines.

Branch estimated that the location of the plant near the Alabama coal fields will save Georgia Power between $3 and $4 million a year when the full capacity of the plant is reached.

The plant will be built and operated by a new company known as Southern Electric Generating Co., which will be financed by the Southern Co. investing approximately $25 million by 1961 in the common stocks of the Georgia and Alabama Power Companies. These companies in turn will invest these funds in the common stock of the generating company.

Additional construction funds will be obtained by the generating company through sale of debt securities.

The Southern Co. is the parent corporation of both Georgia Power and Alabama Power.

H. J. Scholz of Birmingham, president of Southern Services, Inc., the mutually owned service company of the Southern system, will be president of the new company. J. F. Crist, vice president of the Southern Co., will be executive vice president. J. J. McDonough, executive vice president of Georgia Power, and Walter Bouldin, executive vice president of Alabama Power, will be vice presidents.

Exchange Seat Sold for $113,000

NEW YORK, May 18 (UP) — A "seat" changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange today for $113,000—the highest paid for an exchange membership in more than 19 years.

The sale price was up $3,000 from the previous transaction on May 14. It was the highest since March 5, 1937, when a "seat" was sold of $125,000.

A membership on the "big board" now is quoted at $75,000 bid and $125,000 asked.

71,000 More Atlanta Telephone Numbers Change

Here are some things you'll want to remember about telephone service in Atlanta:

1. Effective tomorrow at 2:01 A.M., some 71,000 more telephone numbers will be changed to the new nation-wide numbering system introduced in Atlanta last fall.

2. The office names Cypress, Lamar, Alpine, Dixie, Vernon, Atwood, Emerson and Elgin will pass out of existence.

3. The new office names are JAckson 3, JAckson 4, JAckson 5, MArket 7, TRinity 2, TRinity 4, TRinity 5 and TRinity 6.

4. Before calling one of the new numbers, please remember to refer to the new telephone directory. Be sure to dial the first two letters of the office name followed by the five numerals. For example, to call JAckson 3-9999, you would dial JA 3-9999.

5. When placing a Long Distance call from one of the new numbers, be sure to give the operator the complete number as listed in the directory when she asks for your number.

6. One more change, in November, will complete the transition to the new nation-wide numbering system which paves the way for further expansion and improvements in service.

Follow these simple steps in placing your new number card on your telephone:

1 Make sure that the surface of the celluloid cover over your present number card is clear and DRY.

2 Then peel off the paper backing from the new number card. DO NOT WET.

3 Hold the new card over the celluloid cover so that the new number is in the same position as the old one.

4 Press the new card firmly in place by rubbing your finger over the surface, particularly around the edges.

The South's Future Depends on Power

Georgians and Alabamans will welcome the announcement that the Georgia Power Co. and the Alabama Power Co. will construct a $150,000,000 steam plant on the Coosa River to generate electric power.

The joint project will produce a million kilowatts of power—enough to supply the needs of a city of more than 1,500,000 people.

The two companies are to be congratulated for moving ahead to meet the growing needs of the two states. They are preparing to meet the demand for more and more power as the economy expands. Already there have been reports of a developing power shortage.

The region's growth depends upon a continued ample supply of electricity at reasonable rates. The fact of growth itself justifies the investment, since growth means an ever-expanding market for power. The South's resources of water and its potential for power is one of its greatest assets in relation to the rest of the nation.

Simon Nelson Patten, one of the great economic thinkers of the early part of this century, said "The key to national prosperity lies in Southern prosperity." This has been proven in the last two decades as the pent-up energies of the great region have been releasd.

The Coosa River system is one of the greatest undeveloped watersheds in the nation. Its potential for power, navigation and flood control has been recognized for a long time.

The Corps of Engineers years ago completed a plan for its development. Its beginning was Allatoona Dam on the Etowah at Cartersville. It is fitting that private interests are taking this initiative in participating in its development.

Growth begets growth and it is most encouraging to see Southern business and financial interests expressing their confidence in the future of the region. We are certain that it is not misplaced. It will contribute to progress.

Students of Our War Are Most Welcome Here

Revival of interest in the War Between the States is one of the phenomena of our times. Books on the subject make the best seller lists and win prizes as well as economic security for their authors.

Wherever the tides of battle flowed nearly a century ago, tourists and students roam today. This strife between brothers holds eternal fascination, for more than most wars it was one of ideals and was led by men whose generation believed in gallantry and chivalry.

Atlanta, the scene of some of the most decisive fighting of the war, is being visited this weekend by members of the Civil War Round Table of Chicago. This group is one of many over the land that meets to discuss various phases of the period. As part of its program it now is studying Sherman's advance from Chattanooga and the fall of Atlanta.

A full schedule has been arranged for the visitors by the Round Table of Atlanta. It includes tours of the battlefields, a visit to the Cyclorama and entertainment that proves while the South surrendered much at Appomattox it has held fast to the old standards of hospitality.

This group is one of the most welcome of the many that gather here each year. Atlanta is proud of her history and is delighted when such distinguished visitors come to study it.

Georgia Tech Is Good But Could Be Bettered

Georgia Tech is the third largest engineering school in the nation, according to a survey made by the Engineers Council for Professional Development.

Its approximately 3,800 students rank it behind only the University of Illinois and Purdue University in a numerical rating.

These figures are impressive, for this is the age of engineers, and the South is fortunate to have an institution of such national importance located right in the middle of this expanding section. Tech is an example of anticipating the future, for when the school was opened here before the turn of the century industry was more of a wish than a reality. Tech's graduates and its research facilities helped ready the South for the industrial boom it now is enjoying and its future graduates will continue to enrich the section.

It is good to remember, while counting the many blessings Tech has brought the area, that the school is supported by taxes and that for every tax dollar the state has invested there it has collected enormous dividends.

It is wise to remember, too, that the impressive figures listed by the survey are only quantitative.

A qualitative analysis doubtless would show that Tech does not rank so high in such things as faculty salaries, laboratories, funds for research and the ratio of teachers to students.

Quantity and quality should not be confused in measuring the worth of a school. Tech, along with other units of the University System of Georgia, needs more financial support to meet the demands of the present and the challenge of the future.

Sen. George Returns To Georgia This Day

This is the day of Gainesville's annual poultry festival, celebrating one of Georgia's newest and biggest industries.

Actually, however, this festival has been converted into a celebration in honor of Sen. Walter F. George, one of the greatest living Americans and a Georgian held in high honor and esteem by the nation.

The senator comes to Gainesville today, his first trip home since he announced he will retire from the seat he has held so long and so honorably.

Accompanying him will be some of the biggest names in Washington, a bipartisan measure of the affection and respect which his fellow senators have for him. There, too, will be crowds of Georgians who revere him for his years of service, his reputation and his rectitude.

The senator wears his years and honors with dignity and ease. We, along with the rest of Georgia and America, salute him today.

Traffic Law Enforcement Depends on the Public

Speaking in Miami this week, Col. W. C. Dominy, Georgia State Patrol director, said once more that there must be stricter laws regarding revocation of drivers' licenses if we are to achieve safety on the roads.

Those aware of the problem in Georgia have been saying that a long time. They must keep saying it until positive action is taken.

The legal right to operate a motor vehicle in our states is still too easy to get. Once attained, it is too easily retained. Once removed, it is too easily recovered.

The result is that incompetent drivers, wantonly reckless drivers, those who persist in drinking and driving, continue to operate. And the traffic toll mounts—375 deaths so far and the threat that the 1956 total will exceed last year's awful 1,083.

The stricter legislation which Col. Dominy urges will come only when public opinion gets tough, when Georgians say they will no longer tolerate recklessness and drunkenness on the highways nor any laxity in law enforcement.

He who flagrantly violates his driving privilege rates no second chance. He who is incompetent shouldn't have the first one.

Will America Prove The Reds To Be Right?

Will the very nature of our government be the reason for a world victory for communism as Red leaders are saying?

Their belief that it will provides the answer to much that the Kremlin has been up to lately. In changing their emphasis from military to the political and economic fields, the Communists are gambling that the United States and other free nations will be unwilling to make the effort through foreign aid and technical assistance to counter them.

Congress, if it finally refuses to grant President Eisenhower's long-range foreign aid proposals, will be taking the risk that the Russians are sure we will take. It will give them an open field for economic penetration and subversion and eventual domination of the countries they thus invade.

The Soviets do not have to worry about an electorate or taxes. They are able through dictatorial orders to galvanize the entire Soviet economy toward a given objective with no regard for the wishes of the people. The total energy of the state can be manipulated at will.

The disadvantage to us is readily apparent. Will we be willing to pay the taxes to defend the freedoms we love? Will our leaders, up for re-election, be able to act in the interest of national security or will the pressures of politics and isolation result in victory for the new Communist tactics?

The answer to those questions probably holds the futures of us all.

Too Many People Have Asked at the Capitol Who Gen. Gordon Is, Ben Fortson Reveals

Atlanta—Thank you very much for the fine editorial carried in The Atlanta Constitution May 10, entitled "Can We Have Forgotten Deeds of Gen. Gordon?"

Unfortunately we do need plaques that explain the deeds and heroism of the great men of our past.

Too many people know too little of the past history of our state and of our nation. Too many people have asked here at the Capitol, "Who is Gordon?" and that is the reason the Georgia Historical Commission placed a plaque telling something about him so that people would know.

I would like to take this opportunity to commend Gov. Marvin Griffin for his deep interest in the preservation and restoration of our historic sites and monuments.

It has been said that "A people without memories is a people without a future." I am happy to join Gov. Griffin, the department of archives and history and the Georgia Historical Commission in their efforts to see that the memories of our heritage are not forgotten.

BEN W. FORTSON JR.,
Secretary of State.

Trucking Convention Appreciated Editorial

Atlanta—On behalf of the Georgia trucking industry, we want to express our appreciation to The Constitution for the space it so generously devoted to the 21st annual convention of the Georgia Motor Trucking Assn. held recently in Savannah.

Your editorial commentary on the size and importance of our industry to the state was especially gratifying.

He Agrees Gordon Deserves Recognition

Decatur—The writer is in accord with the sentiments expressed by Mrs. W. Creamer in a letter to The Constitution, in which she urged that the name and memory of one of Georgia's greatest soldiers, Lt. Gen. John B. Gordon, "The Man of the 12th of May," should be fittingly honored by the City of Atlanta.

However, Mrs. Creamer has made what may be considered a very natural mistake in assuming that the Gordon monument in Savannah is that of Gen. John B. Gordon.

The facts are, first, that the monument was erected in memory of William Washington Gordon, the first president of the Central of Georgia Railway and Banking Co., and, second, Gordon street was named for him before the War Between the States.

Personnel Problems Plague Washington

WASHINGTON—The staffing and administering of the federal government have been under more intensive study here in the last three years than ever before, but they still remain among the most difficult and controversial of the unsolved problems in Washington.

Three recent developments here illustrate the problem:

1. A House Government Operations Subcommittee reported after a detailed study of the state department that the lines of authority in that department were so divided that "managerial control is next to impossible. . . . The results in terms of administrative management is that there are now five departments of state instead of one."

2. Phillip Young, chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, announced that another reorganization of the civil service was being planned to create a new senior civil service whose members would fill the highest career posts in the government.

3. Though the United States Information Agency is now under attack here and elsewhere in the world, the administration has now asked and the Senate has approved authority to put USIA officials into a permanent information career service.

On the question of the administration of the state department, the House Government Operations Subcommittee said that its detailed study had shown that the administration management of state department funds was "not only complex but incredible."

The subcommittee noted that the Eisenhower administration had asked for authority to add a new undersecretary of state to reorganize the department's administration. It charged, however, that this experiment had failed, despite the expenditures of $245,000 for a management survey that was largely ignored.

The complexity of getting and keeping the right men in the right government jobs and the time consumed in the process were outlined by Young in his statement on the attempt to create a new senior civil service.

This was orginally proposed by the Hoover Commission.

The suggestion was originally made in 1955 and President Eisenhower characterized it as "one of the most far-reaching and imaginative proposals made by the Hoover Commission." But a year later it is still in the discussion stage.

The whole question of government personnel has been one of the great disappointments to the top officials of this administration. High taxes, the conflict of interest laws, severe congressional questioning of government employes, and the unwillingness of large private institutions to allow their best men to take temporary jobs in the government have all made the task of staffing top jobs here much more difficult than the President and his senior Cabinet officers expected.

Meanwhile the ambitious plans for 1953 to cut the federal payroll by substantial numbers have not materialized.

This is not the most dramatic story in Washington but in the long run, officials here concede it is one of the most serious.

Numbers Are Being Changed

Gone Atwood, gone Emerson, gone Cypress and Elgin; gone Lamar, Alpine, Dixie and Vernon as well. Not gone, but going—that's the word from S. Bell. It's coming tomorrow, the old yields to new—with JAckson, MArket and TRinity, too.

It's at 2:01 a.m. Sunday that Atlantians lay that old phone book down and pick up the new. That's when the phone company cuts in three new central office designations, thus bringing us closer to long distance dialing.

In case your business number is among those changed, I offer emergency copywriting service as you work out your new advertising.

For instance, if you are a confectionery, you can promote your wares thus: If You Have an Affinity for Divinity, Phone TRinity X-XXXX.

Or a tire shop with a changed phone number might write: More Action, More Traction at a Cost Fraction—Dial JAckson X-XXXX.

Taxi service? Don't Drive It, Park It — Call a Cab at MArket X-XXXX.

Speaking of telephones, I know an absent-minded scribe who picked up a medicine bottle, went to the phone and dialed the prescription number.

I did it twice before I realized why I wasn't getting the drug store.

SHORT SUBJECTS: This cannon stealing business takes on sinister proportions. Deceased Cat Causes A Household Crisis

A friend of mine, usually a man of great self-assurance and aplomb came in the office the other morning looking pale and shaken. His dog, he said, had meowed at him. He had walked out of the house and the dog was just standing there in the driveway looking forlorn and as he spoke pleasantly to the pooch, as is his custom, it had looked up at him and just as plain as day made a noise exactly like a cat.

The experience left him in a state of nervous shock because its deeper meaning was immediately clear to him. Up until about three days ago, his household had consisted of one wife, one cat and one dog, all of them very young and all of them motherly types and consequently very close to each other. The cat, as is the custom of cats, had presented the household with a basketful of kittens, which had been carefully brought up to giving-away size when kind friends had taken them off to establish households of their own.

The dog had made a like contribution and a box full of puppies had been distributed around the neighborhood. The dog and the cat had been brought up with each other from babyhood. They had played together, eaten together, roamed the woodlands around the house together. On cold nights they had even slept together.

When the kittens and the puppies arrived they took great interest in each other's offspring. The cat did not object when the bumble-footed puppies sought to lure her into play and the dog made no protest when the kittens climbed over her when she was trying to sleep. After the pups and kittens were weaned and gone, the friendship between the two matrons seemed to ripen. They were together constantly.

The cat, however, had one dangerous habit. When the sun grew hot, she would lie down in the shade under the automobile and go to sleep. The other day the snoozing cat, unseen beneath the car, didn't hear the engine start. The result, of course, was tragedy—the sort of thing that leaves a young wife terribly upset, even though it happens sooner or later at nearly every household where there are both cars and cats.

The dog was inconsolable. Even though she had seen the accident, she would not accept its finality. She continued to prowl the house and yard, peering into every corner the cat used to frequent.

Now she has quit searching, my friend says. But every once in a while she stops and calls her old friend, making this funny noise that is neither a whine nor a bark but a meow.

His nerves won't stand much more of that, he says. So now he's looking around for another cat. A kitten-having, dog-loving lady cat. Preferably a Siamese, for Siamese cats, he says, have more sense than to go to sleep under automobiles.

Jezebel Let Nothing Stand in Her Way

One of the worst men of all time was Ahab. The Bible says he did more evil in the sight of God than all the kings who had ever reigned before him. My women readers are not going to like my saying so but the reason he was so evil was because of his wife.

Her name was Jezebel, who was one of the princesses of Sidon. When she married King Ahab she insisted on bringing her own religion with her. Ahab was one of those liberal types who did not think religion makes much difference but it didn't bother him if his wife wanted to bring hers along.

She was a Baal worshiper and she brought 400 Baal priests into Israel. Later she had the king build elaborate temples for the worship of Baal.

But she soon saw that the people of Israel were not taking to her religion very well so to put down competition she ordered all the priests of Israel slain. Except for the influence of Obadiah, her order would have been carried out.

One day Ahab noticed the very lovely vineyard of his neighbor Naboth. He liked it so much that he offered to buy it, but Naboth did not want to sell it. His father tilled that soil, he was born on it and he would not part with it for any price. The king accepted his position and pressed him no further. However, he did mention the vineyard and his desire for it to Jezebel.

She was indignant. The fact that anyone had refused the king was more than she could stand. She cried, "Ahab, who is king of Israel, you or Naboth? Leave it to me, I will handle it." She trumped up some charges against poor Naboth, had him condemned and stoned to death. The next day Ahab took over the vineyard.

There is much more but the above is enough to show the kind of woman she was and the moral influence she had over the people. Everyone was afraid of her except a prophet by the name of Elijah. The prophet told the king he could not disobey the laws of God and get away with it. He prophesied a drought, famine and pestilence. It all came just as Elijah predicted. The king set out to kill Elijah but it took him three years to find him.

When they finally met, the king called him "the troubler of Israel." The prophet replied, "I am not the troubler of Israel. It is you—you who have forsaken the commandments of God."

And so it is with our own consciences. We are disturbed, worried, ill at ease. Our troubler may be the voice of God speaking to us, not letting us rest and be complacent in the midst of our own wrongs. We resent being troubled. We decide if we can only get rid of God, everything will be all right again.

But there is another way. To recognize where we have sinned, to recognize God's voice not only as our troubler but also as our Saviour. The troubler is not an enemy to be fought, but a voice to be obeyed.

British Redcoat Is On Stone Mountain

It is great that plans are moving to do something about Stone Mountain, a big rock with an unfinished carving on one side and several thousand finished beer cans on the other.

We who can look out the window most any time and see the granite brute are inclined to take it for granted, but it is a lot to take for granted. The thing is a sensation. The physical facts of the mountain are fairly well known.

It thrusts more than 700 feet above the Piedmont Plateau and covers an area approximately two miles square. What one can see of it is estimated to contain 7,500,000,000 cubic feet of granite—and that's a hard fact. Of course most of the mountain is underground and there's no telling, really, how big it is.

The mountain is a picnic mecca for nearby folk and out-of-staters constantly are driving up to do some sightseeing.

Stone Mountain granite provides curbstones and building materials throughout this area. Chickens are even in on the act. Grit for the fowls is blasted out of the mountain.

Plant life on the big rock is most interesting. Through the blue-jillion years the mountain has been there dirt has accumulated in hollows and crevasses. Pines twisted by the winds have taken root and grown and in sandy, eroded spots there exists exquisite life hardly visible to the unaided eye. These mosses and lichens call the mountain home and some of the varieties are extremely rare.

One of the more interesting residents is the British Redcoat, a lichen. The lichens are pioneer plants which appear where nothing else will grow. They are an early stepping stone to higher plant life. The British Redcoat—formal name Cladonia—has a bright-red fruiting body from whence the common name is derived. The Redcoat, like all lichens is a combination of two simple plants, a fungus and an alga. The fungus provides an anchoring place and some sort of protection while the alga, a one-celled simpleton, does all the work. The alga manufactures food through the photosynthesis process—water, carbon dioxide, sun, chlorophyll. When dinner is ready the fungus pulls up a chair.

Animal life on the mountain, too, is interesting. Humans are the most interesting. They frequently get too far down the steep side and Elias Nour, the experienced rescuer, has to go get his ropes and pull the sliders back. He has done this so often he received this spring a Carnegie Medal for his efforts.

The association formed to tackle the big boulder, including the carving, has a wonderful challenge. Stone Mountain will rock you just as it is—but wait until it is improved!

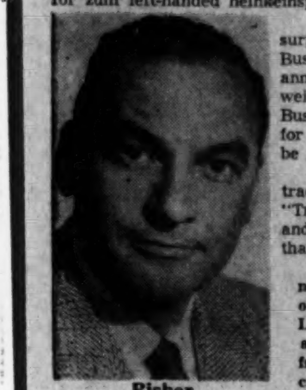
Attention All Cardinals:

It has been the spring habit of Owner Gussie Busch to suit up and horse around through workouts with his St. Louis Cardinals down in Florida. It is now being suggested to Gussie by his closest advisers that he pick his workout days carefully in St. Petersburg next year.

"Uddervise, Gussie," his advisers are advising, "you are liable to find dot Herr Fronk Lane has traded you to Pittsburgh for zum left-handed heinkeinspieler er zumding."



Bisher

It would not come as any great surprise if Frantie Frank walked into Busch's office one of these days and announced that he has traded Budweiser for Schlitz. Or Anheuser for Busch. Or Gilbert for Sullivan. Or AC for DC. Even Cardinal Spellman may be in danger.

Lane is merely an incurable horse trader. He is the sequel to both "Trader Horn" and "David Harum," and with a far more mystifying plot than either.

He survived his first few months in Cardinal office with only one deal. He passeled off Brooks Lawrence, an ulcerated pitcher, and Sonny Senerchia, a convert from third base to the hill, to Cincinnati for Jackie Collum, an old piece of Cardinal property. But when he did break out in a light attack of baseball bartering, it developed into an epidemic.

There are 26 Cardinals today. Fifteen of them were not Cardinals last year. The players are coming in and going at such a clip the guys are spending most of their time getting acquainted. These have been some of the more pungent deals:

Frank Smith, for whom the pre-Lane Cards gave up third baseman Ray Jablonski and pitcher Gerry Staley, was auctioned back to Cincinnati for $10,000. This means that the Reds wound up with all the players involved, plus a wad of cash from the Cards and some from the Yankees for Staley.

Bill Virdon, rookie of the year in the National League, was swapped to Pittsburgh for Bobby Del Greco and Dick Littlefield. This deal may be traced to Lane's affinity to Littlefield. When he general-managed the White Sox, Lane owned Littlefield on at least three occasions.

Alex Grammas, for whom the Cardinals paid Cincinnati $100,000 three years ago, was sent back to the Reds with Joe Frazier for Chuck Harmon, classified as a utility man.

—Last Trace of a Misspent $300,000

Grammas represented the last trace of $300,000 shelled out by a new and untrained Busch administration in St. Louis. Memo Luna, a pitcher now somewhere in Mexico, and Tom Alston, now playing first base at Omaha, each cost $100,000. Whether the people who recommended these deals are still in the family can't be determined, for nobody's speaking up these days but Lane.

Harvey Haddix, once a big man at Busch Stadium, was turned out to the Phillies with Stu Miller, Ben Flowers and Solly Hemus for Herm Wehmeier, Murry Dickson and Bobby Morgan. From out here in the bleachers, there just didn't seem to be much Cardinal merit in this one, unless Trader Lane knows something about Haddix's arm that no one else knows.

They say that Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst are even looking fearfully at one another. They've been roommates for years. Any deal breaking them up would have to go through the divorce court.

Lane is the man who sat on a bench in Florida and exclaimed that the Cardinals were a third-place ball club. "They were managed into seventh place last year," he said.

I can't be quite sure what's coming off now, but I have a feeling he's either trying to trade them into first place or back into seventh. Whatever he's doing, the old-line Cardinal voters don't go for it. This isn't like Chicago, '48, when he took over the White Sox. Nobody in Chicago gave a fig about the Sox then.

—The Minoso Deal Made Him

Lane found out that nobody in the American League cared much for the Sox, either. "I put the whole roster on the waiver list," he said, "and I got offers for only two players—Howie Judson, a pitcher, and Cass Michaels, the second baseman. That came as a shock, to say the least."

This is the bite that apparently turned Lane into a rabid trader. He started off by exchanging Aaron Robinson, a tired old catcher, for young Billy Pierce, and cash, with Detroit. This deal was monumentally successful. Lane never stopped trading after that.

In his first five seasons with the White Sox, Lane bought, sold or traded 268 ball players. It was such an impressive product of the modern slavery market that Comiskey publicity office published tabulated releases on Lane's deals from time to time.

It took one big deal to establish Lane as the eminently successful barterer that he is. He got on the telephone one day in 1951 and talked $500 worth, putting together the three-way switch that deposited Minnie Minoso in Comiskey Park. It cost the Sox Gus Zernial and Dave Philley in exchange, and this looked like a heavy price to pay at the time. Minoso had not yet become a star. He was merely a Minoso who had looked splendid in the Pacific Coast League.

Minoso became a hero. The Sox became contenders. Lane became famous as a dealer and everything worked out like the fairy godmother had promised it would.

Maybe it'll all work out in St. Louis. But Gussie should be careful next spring. Just to make sure he sticks around he should hang a big sign on his back that says: "OWNER."

HOW . . . SO FAST?

Robinson's Target: Archie Moore's Title

LOS ANGELES, May 18 (AP)—Minutes after retaining his middleweight boxing title, Sugar Ray Robinson indicated his next goal will be another shot at the light-heavyweight crown.

Breathing normally in a dressing room filled with jubilation, Robinson nodded when one of his managers, Joe Glasser, told newsmen they now wanted to go after the 175-pound title currently owned by Archie Moore.

Sugar Ray tried once before to go up a step and lost via a 14th round kayo to ex-champ Joey Maxim in 1952.

About tonight's fight, Robinson said:

"On orders from my corner I was holding back and trying to feel him out. Olson was just trying to stay. He wasn't trying to fight too much. I set him up with a right to the body and the knockout punch was the left hook to the jaw. I hit him good.

"Olson didn't hurt me although he did get in a good left hook to my stomach in the third round. He isn't a devastating puncher but I knew I was hit."

Somebody asked the turning point of the fight.

"When I knocked him out," the Harlem dandy laughed back.

Olson still was dazed and dejected in his dressing room. He kept shaking his head and asking his manager Sid Flaherty:

"How could it happen so fast?"

Bobo said he never saw the punch and never heard the referee's count of 10.

"All I knew is that when I got up I saw all the people standing."

Olson apologized to Flaherty saying he'd let him down. Sid patted him on the back and said:

"You never took a cleaner punch in your life. It landed right on the point of your jaw."

Flaherty shook his head in apparent admiration of Robinson's blow.

Bobo said he thought he was getting stronger and Robinson was weakening as they went into the fourth round.

"I was trying harder, then—Whooom," Bobo declared. "That guy has got a jinx on me, I guess."

Middleweight Champ Drops Challenger With Left Hook

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, May 18 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson of New York, with a magnificent display of precision punching, retained his world middleweight championship tonight when he knocked out the ex-champion, Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco with sensational suddenness in the fourth round of their scheduled 15-round fight.

The end came with a start and a jolt 2 minutes and 51 seconds of the fourth when the Harlem dancing master lured Olson in with a short right and then unleashed one blow—a left hook that caught Bobo flush on the chin.

Olson almost flipped over backwards in a somersault and landed flat on his back. As Referee Mushy Callahan got to about the 7-count, Olson rolled over on his stomach and was trying to lift himself from the canvas.

The Bobo man could not do it and Robinson had registered his fourth victory and third knockout over Olson in a series dating back to 1950 and really climaxed in Chicago last December when Sugar Ray knocked Olson out in two rounds to win back the title.

Robinson was still the master, despite his 35 years of age and 16 years in the ring, and the crowd gathered in perfect weather at Wrigley Field gave him a tremendous ovation as he left the scene.

Robinson was ahead on points for the first three rounds in action that was fairly fast. But Olson opened the fourth in forceful fashion and seemed on his way toward winning the round and even giving the champion a rough go.

He made Robinson miss a looping right uppercut and he landed a good stiff left to the mouth midway in the round. Sugar Ray danced back in retreat for perhaps the first time during the fight and the Olson people began to show marked interest in their man.

Then came the dramatic left hook and the fight became almost a carbon copy at twice the distance of the last battle they had in Chicago.

The referee had Robinson in front by one point after three rounds under the 10-points-per-round scoring system. He gave Olson the third round. Judge Tommy Hart had Robinson 30-27, winning two and calling the third round even. Judge Frankie Van had Robinson winning all three rounds. The Associated Press called the third even and had Robinson two points ahead.

The crowd was estimated at 18,000 with gate receipts approximately $200,000.

Robinson set a fast pace as soon as the bell sounded to open the nationally-televised scrap. He shot a right that jolted Olson's head and followed with a left hook to the jaw.

Punch Below Belt (In Wallet) Hits Bobo, Sugar Ray

LOS ANGELES, May 18. (AP) — Although they didn't know it at the time, both Ray Robinson and Bobo Olson may have been fighting for nothing tonight.

Before their world middleweight championship bout, the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue slapped a lien on Robinson of $89,981.91 for back income tax debts and Mrs. Helen V. Olson, Bobo's estranged wife, gained a court order to freeze all of Bobo's earning tonight pending settlement of their marital problems.

Neither fighter was told of the financial blow that had been dealt them before the bell.

Pels Halt Loss Streak, Edging Lookouts, 6-5

Compiled From Wire Reports

First baseman Al Grunwald drilled a bases-loaded single in the ninth inning Friday night to end New Orleans' eight-game Southern Association losing streak with a 6-5 victory over Chattanooga.

Mobile backed up Billy Joe Davidson's four-hitter with a homer assault that provided all the runs in a 5-2 victory over Nashville and league-leading Birmingham came through with a 5-3 victory over Memphis in 12 innings.

Travelers Rock Vogel With Big Eighth, 10-5

Little Rock Scores Six Runs In Frame to Capture Opener

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer

LITTLE ROCK, May 18—Fireman Fred Vogel, who hadn't allowed a run in 10 stellar relief stints, was raked for six markers in the eighth inning Friday night as Little Rock racked Atlanta, 10-5, for its fifth straight triumph.

The revived Travelers struck only two hits off Vogel in the big inning, but they parlayed the safeties with three intentional walks and one unintentional pass and Bob Boring's fielding boner for their seventh success in eight games.

Southpaw Andy Pane, who has lost five games to the rest of the league, registered his second win over Atlanta with another hitless relief job.

The Crackers owned a 5-4 lead in the sixth when Pane rescued starter Vern Taylor. And, believe it or not, one of the runs crossed when Frank DiPrima, no speedster himself, came home on the front end of a double steal with slow-footed Burris in the sixth.

But Clyde King's men couldn't steal a hit off Pane, and dropped their third game in four outings with the sixth-place Travelers.

The Travelers, who delighted a ladies' night crowd of 1,757, landed only six hits—one less than Atlanta—but at least one run crossed after each blow. And, of course, starter Dick Grabowski and Vogel generously tossed in 11 walks.

Eleven Travelers batted in the horrendous eighth, before Corky Valentine finally came out of the bullpen to end it.

Clint Weaver led with a walk and Spider Wilhelm bunted to Boring, who had no chance for an out at second, but made a belated throw anyway. Vogel then uncorked a wild pitch and signed an intentional walk for Eric Rodin to jam the bases.

Andy Frazier followed with a two-run double to left-center, which put the hot Rocks out front, 6-5. They didn't need any more runs, but the Crackers were in a generous mood. So Dan Prentice was purposely passed, and Pane aided his own case with a two-run single. Prentice took third on the hit, and Pane moved down as Jack Daniels' throw got past Burris.

R. C. Otey grounded out, and Buck Riddle fired to second, where Pane had strayed too far off the bag. But Prentice broke for home and easily beat DiPrima's weak relay. Another intentional walk and a force-out brought in a run. Valentine then quelled the rally.

Grabowski and Reynolds wrapped singles around Daniels' walk to set up Bob Montag's two-run single in the third, and Riddle belted his No. 3 homer for a 3-2 Cracker lead in the fourth. The Travelers had banked two runs in the third with two out by mixing two hits with two walks and a wild pitch.

Boring's single behind Meeks' double netted the fourth Cracker run to open the sixth. DiPrima then singled to right, but Boring was nailed by Ranson's strike.

DiPrima stunned the Travelers by stealing third and left them dumfounded by swiping home on the double steal after Burris walked. Burris broke for second to promote a throw, and DiPrima outlegged the wobbly relay to the plate.

But Pane entered in the

Needles Flashes Pins In Preakness Today

Colt To Renew Derby Duel With Calumet Farms' Fabius

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—Needles, a Florida character with flying feet, will try for a repeat of his Derby win tomorrow against eight other 3-year-olds in the 80th running of Pimlico's famed Preakness.

It's one down and two to go for the temperamental Needles, who roared from behind two weeks ago and won going away in the Derby.

The handsome son of Ponder-Noodle Soup will have his work cut out in the mile and three-sixteenths Preakness, a sixteenth shorter than the Derby.

If he can catch Calumet's speedy Fabius, generally considered the horse to beat, and win, chances are Needles will become the ninth Triple Crown winner in history.

The $100,000-added Belmont over the tough mile and one-half route at New York June 16 seems to be right up Needles' alley.

No horse has been able to make the triple grand slam since Calumet Farm's Citation, sire of Fabius, did it in 1948.

The Preakness, Maryland's most famous race, carries $100,000 in added money, and with nine starters the jackpot will gross $132,800.

There was one mild surprise when the entry box closed this morning. Trainer Abelard (Frenchy) Lamoureux named both Ratheram and Fleet Peet as the H. C. Fruehauf entry.

In addition to Fabius, who carved out a swift Derby pace only to be beaten three-quarters of a length, they are Mrs. Helen W. Kellogg's Come On Red, third; Dino Lozzi's Count Chic, fourth; and W. E. Britt's No Regrets, seventh.

Two invaders from New York, Danny Arnstein's Eiffel Blue, and the Winding Way Farm's unpredictable Golf Ace, complete the lineup for the race, set for a 4:45 p.m., EST, post. CBS television will be in action, 4:40-5 p.m., with radio 4:45-5 p.m.

Needles was listed as the even-money favorite, but it wouldn't be a surprise if he dropped to 4-5 by post time. Fabius, who will be trying to grab a fifth Preakness for Calumet, is the 3-1 second choice, with Count Chic and Come On Red both 8-1.

Dave Erb, who piloted Needles to victory in the Flamingo and Florida Derby as well as in Kentucky, will be trying to cash in his fourth straight $100,000-added race.

Duckworth, Berman Shatter SEC Marks

Bulldog Thrusts Spear 220 Feet, 6 Inches; Tech Star Nears 54 Feet in Shot Put Trial

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM, May 18—Bill Duckworth, University of Georgia junior, got the 24th Southeastern Conference Track and Field championships off to a flying start here Friday afternoon by thrusting the javelin to a new SEC record of 220 feet, 6 inches.

GOING . . . GOING . . . JAVELIN GONE—A RECORD
Georgia's Bill Duckworth Releases Record Heave

Bill's record came on his very first toss before many of the shirt-sleeved fans had taken their seats in the sun-splashed stands of Legion Field. The throw erased the record of 212 feet, 10¼ inches made by the late Bob Salisbury of Georgia in the 1940 meet.

Duckworth, a product of Atlanta's Druid Hills High, will have three more tosses in Saturday's finals to improve on the record. Joe May of LSU was second after Friday's preliminary throws with a 207-foot thrust.

The javelin record had hardly gone on the books before Georgia Tech's big Fred Berman established another new meet mark in the 16-pound shot put. Working in a ring that was far from conducive to record performance, Berman heaved the iron ball 53 feet, 11½ inches to surpass the 1934 mark of 53 feet 6½ inches by Jack Torrance of LSU.

Louisiana State, winner of 14 SEC titles, and Florida's talent-laden Gators, co-favorites to take the '56 crown, qualified 17 each in the 10 events in which trials were held Friday. Georgia was a surprising third with eight and Tech fourth with seven. Defending champion Auburn and Alabama grabbed six places each, followed by Vanderbilt 3, Tennessee 2, Mississippi State and Kentucky one each.

Georgia Tech's Martin Torrence won both his 100 and 220-yard dash heats and looms as a sure point getter for the Jackets in the finals.

Georgia Tech's Carl Vereen, who is a threat to break Auburn's Jim Dillion's discus record of 171-4, easily led the six qualifiers in his specialty with a toss of 165 feet 3 inches. Berman was second with a toss of 154 feet, 7 inches.

Other records which may be in jeopardy Saturday are the pole vault in which Florida's Earl Poucher will make his fourth and final attempt to break his brother Leroy's mark of 14 feet 2⅞ inches, and the mile run in which Tennessee's Ed Murphey is a prime favorite.

Tar Heels Vs. Georgia In Atlanta?

Tatum Proposes Friday Games

By LARRY FOX

North Carolina would like to move the Athens half of its annual series with Georgia to Atlanta as part of a two-day football doubleheader, Tar Heel Coach Jim Tatum said here Friday night.

"We would like to play Georgia in Atlanta on Friday night every other year, with Tech playing its regular game on Saturday. I think that would go over much better than two games in one day," Tatum said.

Tatum, here to address a dinner meeting of North Carolina alumni, added, "I just don't like Saturday night games anyway. It's an injustice to the boys, and of course that's the thing that always guides me. Also, when the boys can sit around all Saturday afternoon listening to the scores, it's hard to keep their minds on the game they have to play."

The husky former Tar Heel tackle said that an ideal situation would be for Georgia Tech to take the Friday night game on alternate years, but they would be doing it strictly as a favor, he declared.

"A doubleheader like this would be great for Atlanta," he concluded.

Tatum revealed that North Carolina had given up its place on the Georgia schedule in 1957 to let the Bulldogs play Michigan, but would return after that.

THE CLIPBOARD: Accompanying Tatum and Erickson was UNC Alumni Secretary Spike Saunders. . . . Saunders and Erickson spoke briefly and Tatum made the main address, outlining his philosophy of football ("Winning football players make better students.") and team prospects ("We have at Carolina the best backfield prospects we've ever had since I've been coaching and the Tar Heels will have at least one thing they lacked last year, 'confidence.'") . . . Bob Foreman did a fast moving job of running the program in the absence of president Bob McLellan. . . . Some 150 alumni were present. . . . New officers elected were Charles Loudermilk, president; Eugene Oberdorfer II, vice-president; Norman A. Cooledge, secretary-treasurer; and others on the Executive Committee: T. B. Higdon, James W. Dorsey, Alice Huffard and McLellan.

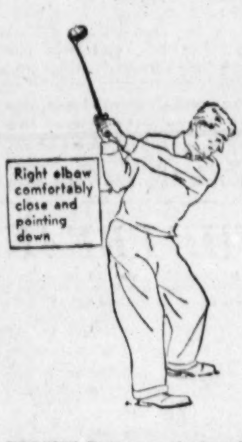
PLAY BETTER GOLF

—by Tommy Armour



Right elbow comfortably close and pointing down

WHILE proper footwork generates the body turn necessary to a good backswing, it is equally important that your arms move in the correct path. Your left arm must maintain the radius of your swing, which means that it must remain extended, but not stiff, as your left shoulder brings it back. Your right elbow meanwhile should remain comfortably close to your right side and should continue to point down. For a good swing, keep your elbows as close together as you can without having your arms feel tight or locked. As a matter of fact, good arm motion will be facilitated if your grip, stance, and footwork are correct to begin with.

Greater Atlanta Nine Tops City Stars, 15-8

Lewis, Brown and Bailey Pace Winners' Sock Parade

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Tommy Lewis, Ronnie Brown and Freddie Bailey all but caved the roof in on the City Leaguers at Ponce de Leon Park Friday night as the Greater Atlanta baseball nine smashed across 10 runs in the first inning and coasted to 15-8 victory in the Journal's ninth annual all-star high school game before an estimated 6,000 fans.

Southwest DeKalb's Lewis batted in four runs with a double and single as Coach Charlie Glock's Greater Atlantans erupted for those 10 big runs in the first frame. Leadoff man Brown, the Smyrna Campbell shortstop who later smashed a two-run triple, rapped two singles and tallied as many runs in that horrendous first.

Bailey, Tucker's switch-hitting catcher, didn't start but knocked in three runs with a brace of slashing doubles after he did get in. And Fairburn Campbell's Mac West also poled a double and single in the game that was bob-tailed to seven and a half innings because of the teenage curfew law.

Murphy's Jack Klarman, who didn't get into the game until the sixth inning, made up for lost time by belting two of the four hits the City Leaguers managed off seven pitchers. One was a triple, and he tallied the final run for Pierce McWhorter's gang as Grady's Park Turner rolled out shortly thereafter.

Milton High's Oliver Mullinax was by far the most effective hurler of the night, allowing a lone single to Bass' Jackie Ficken and fanning four batters in the first two scoreless frames. He was the winner, and Southwest's Larry Davis, victim of Greater Atlanta's slashing first frame, the loser.

Max Staples and Rick Madison of Northside's City League Champs hurled effectively, but the die was cast before they entered the game.

Avondale's Sam Taylor, Roswell's Jerry Smith, Smyrna's Dudley Barnes and Tucker's Tony Dorsett all were almost utterly unfathomable for City League Batters. Osborne's Scott Howell and Lithonia's Larry Hamby were wild and contributed eight of the 11 walks issued by Greater Atlanta hurlers, who also whiffed 12 all told.

Staples fanned four in two innings, walked one and gave up a run on Bailey's first slashing double in the fifth. Madison got the winners three-up, three-down in his one frame, the sixth, fanning two. City Leaguers walked six, struck out nine.

Fulton's Sammy Howell popped a run-scoring hit in his only official trip and scored himself, following a walk. Ficken had one-for-two and played fine ball in centerfield.

Fielding gems were turned in by Sprayberry shortstop Jack Robertson of the winning forces—he didn't have an official time at bat—and his City League counterpart, Vance Rankin of North Fulton.

Southwest DeKalb's Lamar Frazier and Russell's Lamar Seals socked the only two Greater Atlanta hits not smacked by the "Big Four" of Lewis, Brown, Bailey and West, both coming in that torrid first inning that settled the issue.

That all-important first included two singles by Brown, one each by Seals, West and Frazier, a sacrifice by Mullinax, an error, two passed balls, four stolen bases, walks to Chamblee's Eddie Grider, Seals and Stone Mountain's Phil Ashe and Lewis' two-run single and two-run double.

Georgia Rolls In Net Meet

Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, May 18—The University of Georgia, led by freshman stars Lindsey Hopkins III and Alfred Thompson Jr. of Atlanta, Friday qualified three of four players for the singles semifinals and both doubles finalists in the Georgia Collegiate Tennis Tournament here.

Hopkins defeated teammate Don Hartsfield in the quarterfinals, 6-2, 6-2.

Thompson overcame a 2-4 deficit in the third set to trim Lee Jones of Tech, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Singles finals start at 2:30 p.m. Saturday with the doubles finals immediately afterwards.

Little Rock Shells Vogel, 10-5

sixth, and the Crackers didn't land another hit.

Bill Wells poled a homer over the left fence and Prentice singled in another marker in the two-run Traveler six, before Grabowski handed Vogel the reins in the seventh.

Vogel, who hadn't posted a decision in 11 games, was charged with the defeat.

CRACKER DIARY: Vic Rehm (4-1), who bested Charles Fowler (0-2) and the Travelers, 1-0, on a one-hitter in Atlanta April 28 will hook up with the right-hander in a rematch Saturday night. The Crackers gleaned only two hits off Fowler, who had a no-hitter working until Jack Daniels homered for the lone run in the sixth. . . . Little Rock, which floundered around in the second division annually as a Detroit farm club, broke off all relations with the majors this year. And observers say the independent Travelers have their best team since the '51 pennant edition. The Crackers, who have dropped three out of four to Little Rock, see no reason to disagree. . . . Travelers got a jolt Friday, however, when outfielder Ben Downs, former Nashville slugger, refused to report. He had been purchased from Charleston, W. Va. . . . Jack Daniels walked in the third and has been on base with a hit or a walk in 21 games in a row.

Reynolds Wins Birmingham Golf

BIRMINGHAM, May 18 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ann Reynolds, Albany, Ga., today defeated Mrs. Sam Byrd, Birmingham, 1 up to win the Birmingham Country Club Women's Invitation golf championship.

Mrs. Byrd finished with a 75.

Mrs. Reynolds had a sensational round in eliminating Janice Phelps, medalist from Atlanta, 4 and 3, Thursday.

Mantle Hits Two More as Yankees Win

CHICAGO, May 18 (AP) — Andy Carey's run-scoring single in the 10th inning with two out snapped a 7-7 tie and pushed the New York Yankees to an 8-7 victory over the Chicago White Sox tonight in a wild contest in which Mickey Mantle hit home runs from both sides of the plate.

ALL-STAR NOTES

Seals Wins MVP Cup At Poncey

Lamar Seals, senior outfielder-pitcher from Russell High of East Point, was recipient of the trophy given to the Greater Atlanta area's most valuable baseball player as determined by a newspaper fan poll leading up to the Journal's annual high school all-star game.

Seals, who received a record 29,003 votes to beat out Fulton catcher Fred Murphy and Southwest DeKalb outfielder Tommy Lewis, was presented the trophy before the game at Ponce de Leon Park Friday night.

Georgia Tech's Floyd Faucette won the special 100-yard dash in football regalia, being timed in 10.4 as Georgia's Wendell Tarleton trailed by a couple of strides, with Auburn's Pat Dukes bringing up the rear.

Auburn quarterback Jimmy Cook won the football-passing contest as he and Georgia's Ken Schulte, who came in second, and Tech's Toppy Vann threw from home plate at targets placed on the bases.

Paul Anderson, world's strongest man, put on a strength exhibition and made an appeal for Olympic funds. Journal Sports Editor Ed Danforth emceed the affair, with prep editor Bob Short making awards.

Nats Stop Indians On Runnels' 5 Hits

Yost Scores In Eleventh

CLEVELAND, May 18 (AP)—Pete Runnels' fifth straight hit of the game, an 11th-inning single scoring Eddie Yost from second, gave the Washington Nationals a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians tonight.

Runnels had hit a double and two singles off starter Early Wynn, and a triple off Don Mossi. The only time they got him out was in the first, when Wynn fanned him.

Cincy Stops Dodgers

BROOKLYN, May 18 (AP) — The free-swinging Cincinnati Redlegs got rid of Carl (No-Hit) Erskine early, but had to go 10 innings tonight before wrecking Brooklyn's six-game winning streak 7-6 on Ray Jablonski's second home run of the game as unbeaten Brooks Lawrence staggered to his fifth victory.

Mincey Winner At Peach Bowl

Roy Mincey took the 25-lap feature in the jalopy race at the Peach Bowl Friday night. Tommy Kuykendall was second and Buddy Whitlock third.

A three-car smash into the fence, featuring leaders Bill Gresham, Al Powers and Donald Fowler, stopped the race on the 22nd lap and enabled Mincey to win.

Former winners Grady Tumlin and Johnny Huey will be on hand Saturday night when the jalopies go again in a 25-lap run.

Friday Results: First heat, 1—Tommy Worthen, 2—Junior Stork, 3—Al Powers. Second heat, 1—Red Bryant, 2—James Norton, 3—Phil Henry. Third heat, 1—Frank Waites, 2—Donald Fowler, 3—Howard Hamilton. 'MY FRIENDS'—BROOKLYN, May 18—No, Sal Maglie is not giving a speech. He is announcing his transfer of "hat" from the Brooklyn Dodgers, whom he has joined, to the St. Louis Cardinals, the team he considers the one to beat in the National League. Later Maglie flew home to Niagara Falls, N.Y., to attend the funeral of his 72-year-old father, who died Friday.

Sutton Hurt in '500' Tune-Up; O'Connor Car Tests at 145.9

State Hires Szymanski

Compiled From Wire Reports

Len Sutton, a 30-year-old rookie driver, suffered face and hand cuts Friday when his Wolcott Special crashed at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway where he was practicing for the 500-mile auto race.

Hospital attendants said the cuts on one hand were severe.

Pat O'Connor will challenge the favored Novi automobiles in his four-cylinder Ansted-Rotary Special at Saturday's opening time trials.

O'Connor became the second driver in history to exceed 145 m.p.h. when he was clocked in an unofficial 145.9 during a practice run. Novis driven by Paul Russo and Jimmy Davies are the other cars with a good chance of breaking the 10-mile qualifying record of 142.58 set last year by the late Jack McGrath.

Defending champion Bob Sweikert has been over 143 m.p.h. in test runs, and no fewer than 27 drivers have topped 140 this week. Thirty-three starting spots are available to the top finishers in trials Saturday and Sunday of this week and next.

Sports in Brief

FOOTBALL: Frank Szymanski, who starred in Notre Dame's line and professionally with Detroit, Philadelphia and the Chicago Bears, was appointed Auditor General of Michigan by Gov. G. Mennen Williams. . . . The Detroit Lions signed three line candidates to 1956 contracts; guards John Burgamy of Georgia and Bob Chuoke of Houston, and tackle Bob Nunnery of LSU.

MISCELLANY: Hungary's Sandor Iharos, who holds or shares six world's running records, probably will steal the spotlight from four-minute milers Brian Hewson, Chris Chataway and Laszlo Tabori when the four compete in the annual British Games in London Sunday and Monday.

Northside and Thomasville Athletes Act Like Janitors—Sweep Everything

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Wayman Creel and his Northside High coaching aides and Erskine Mills and his Thomasville helpers are not weeping about it the way Alexander the Great did, but they are fast running out of athletic worlds to conquer.

Charlie Roberts

Northside has won region championships in three out of four major sports this school year—football, baseball and track. So has Thomasville in 1-A West—football, basketball and baseball—breaking a stranglehold Americus had on most things athletic in recent seasons, with a nod to Valdosta in 1-A football over-all.

Atlanta Northside has, in fact, had one of the most successful over-all sports' years in GIAA history. The school has trophies to show for state AA championships in track, girls' basketball and girls' tennis doubles.

But the big sweep has been in winning eight 3-AA or city team titles. Besides football, baseball and track crowns Northside's stuffed Tiger mascot stands before trophies emblematic of Atlanta titles in golf, girls' basketball, boys' and girls' tennis and individual boys' doubles tennis.

THE FUNNYBONE: A Fulton baseball player struck out in the city title series with Northside, and tossed his bat aside good-naturedly. Johnny Menger, Georgia Tech third baseman, grunted: "Huh, he must be a lousy hitter, acts like it happened every day."

PREP PRATTLE — Feat of the year: Dalton's Billy Joe Roberts and Lefty Sherrill Whitfield one-hitting and no-hitting Griffin in one afternoon to win the 4-AA crown. . . . Coaching masterpiece: D. T. Smith, who lost all at Griffin, winning 4-AA South title with ninth and tenth graders. His pitcher, Donald Pierce, became one of the best. . . . Two big league scouts hail Mike Thomas, Northside second sacker, as best performer in City League. . . . Heartbreaker of year: Fulton's Jimmy Daniel losing one of year's best pitched games to Northside. . . . Most improved player: Southwest DeKalb catcher Robert Christie. Without his improvement Tom Clary's men wouldn't be 4-A champs. Clary calls Newton County shortstop Willie Moore one of finest hitters and fielders he's seen. Also rates Newton's Haskell Johnston as hardest to hit pitcher.

JERYL PINNELL, Eastman's 6-3, 175 southpaw pitching whizbang, is in the top third of his class and could use a college scholarship. So could Charlie Allen, the 5-10, 160 lefty who hasn't lost a regular season game for Wacona in four years. Coach C. B. Littlefield says Allen, also a great hitter, "can make any college team pitching or playing outfield right now." . . . Americus' first sacker James Jennings hit .759 on 22 hits in 29 trips in regular season. . . . Tommy Baker batted in four runs with a homer and double when Trion ruined the 11-0 hurling record of West Point's Charles Bohannon with a 15-5 slashing. . . . This James Melton's no singer but his bat played a merry tune as Tucker waltzed into the state B semis. . . . Pitchers can't miss the bat of Roopville's Don Smith, the lad who couldn't miss the hoop last basketball season.

McShane Stops Chief Big Heart

North American wrestling champion Danny McShane retained his title at East Point Friday night in a 32-minute match he won from Chief Big Heart.

In preliminary matches, Rocky Columbo defeated Bill Blassie in 13 minutes, and Tom Drake lost an eight-minute bout to Jerry Grahame.

Next week, Promoter Paul Jones will take his wrestling show to Marietta's Larry Bell Auditorium.

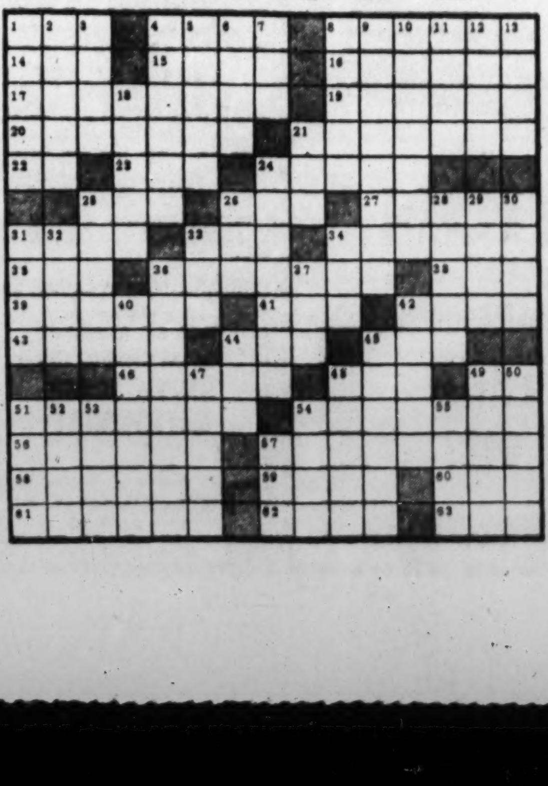
Solution to Yesterday's Puzzle



Simmons, Welcome All Surprises in Amateurs

James Cartledge's Simmons Service and Edsel Cleveland's Welcome All have been the surprise teams of the year as leagues of the Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation begin second-round play in first-half pennant races Saturday and Sunday.

The two clubs, which like Jackson Loan and Shurbutt Service play in both Saturday and Sunday loops, have won 18 and lost three between them while competing in the toughest of the leagues.

Simmons leads the Rucker League (5-1) and the Sunday Eastern League (4-0). Welcome All (5-1) is a tight second to Jackson Loan (6-0) in the City League, but is supreme in the Sunday Georgia League with a 5-1 chart as compared to Shurbutt's 3-1 and Jackson's 2-2.

Simmons could well be knocked from its Rucker perch Saturday by Jack Brooksbank's tough Milstead (4-1) and from the Eastern top spot Sunday by second-place Kennesaw (3-1). Lefty Richard Marmon or Billy Ricketts will hurl Saturday against Milstead's Gilbert Mitchell, who fanned 11 in seven innings last week, or fireballing J. D. Johnson. Lefty Hugh Baggett or Ed Reagin will have the Sabbath chore of halting Kennesaw.

Welcome All, riding the heights on the tremendous slugging of first baseman R. D. Jones and the pitching arm of clever Gene Cassell, meets tough Bolton Saturday but probably will save Cassell for Sunday to face Newnan's Lefty Ted Denney, the whiff artist who toiled in The Constitution's North-South All-Star game last season.

SATURDAY GAMES

CITY LEAGUE — Bolton at Welcome All, Austell vs. Jackson Loan at Glenn Field, Shurbutt Service at Belmont Hills.

RUCKER LEAGUE—Mayson at Grant Park, Simmons Service at Milstead, Roswell, Bye.

SUNDAY GAMES

DIXIE LEAGUE—Bethel vs. East Atlanta at Old Murphy (2 games), Southern Freight at Rehobeth (2 games), Snellville vs. Avondale at Tucker.

EASTERN LEAGUE—Kennesaw vs. Simmons Service at NW Piedmont Park (2 games), Center Hill Methodist at Douglasville (2 games), Mayson vs. Glenwood Hills at Kirkwood.

GEORGIA LEAGUE — Ballentine Motors vs. Jackson Loan at Grant Park (2 games), Welcome All at Newnan, Shurbutt Service vs. Armored Express at Center Hill (2 games).

NORTH ATLANTA LEAGUE—Dunwoody at Duluth (2 games), Alpharetta vs. UAW-CIO Local 10 at Doraville (2 games), Doraville at Norcross (2 games).

SOUTHERN LEAGUE — Local 34 vs. East Point at College Park, Rexall vs. VFW 6449 at Fairburn (2 games), Candler vs. Riverdale at South Fulton.

START LATE—FINISH FAST

Pauline Addie Calls for 'Opening' Of Pro-Am Tennis Competition

By AL THOMY

Pauline Betz Addie was 14 when she won her first tennis championship. In southern California, they would compare that with Winston Churchill's time in a 100-yard dash. A late start, indeed.

"At that age, you were supposed to have a room full of trophies," explained Mrs. Addie as she relaxed after an appearance in the sporting goods department at Rich's.

If the start were slow, the finish was overwhelming. Mrs. Addie is now world's professional women's champion, having just defeated Doris Hart in the nationals and the world's finals. Miss Hart only this year joined the professional ranks.

Though admitting that the women's amateur field is lagging somewhat, Mrs. Addie sees a bright future for such as Shifley Fry, Beverly Fleitz (the ambidextrous swinger) and Barbara Breit. And, of course, there's always Louise Brough, a real competitor.

"What we need is open competition," said Mrs. Addie. "I think all the pros are campaigning for it now, and eventually I believe we'll have it." Open tournaments would throw pros and amateurs together, a la golf.

"Tennis has been good to me," continued Mrs. Addie. "I got a scholarship to Rollins."

To Rollins? Did they have a women's team?

"Oh, no. I played on the men's team, along with Dorothy Bundy. Jack Kramer was a member of the team for one year."

"Of course, you lost several matches to opposing players?" (Ego of man, prepare for a shock.

"Oh, no. I won them all. I probably caused some men to give up tennis," she smiled.

Mrs. Addie is outdoor girl personified, and well she should love sports. She married Bob Addie, sports columnists of the Washington Post-Herald.

Mrs. Addie will team with Dick Covington, Jack Rodgers, Andy Anderson, Natalie Cohen, John Ager and others to give tennis instructions at Bitsy Grant Center Saturday morning at 10 and afternoon at 1. The public is invited.

DWINDLING SOUTHERN GATE RINGS ALARM BELL AT PONCEY

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer

LITTLE ROCK, May 18—For years George Trautman has been serving up the stale quote that he's "concerned but not alarmed" over dwindling attendance in the minors.

Jesse Outlar

Unlike the minor league czar, Atlanta owner Earl Mann is concerned and alarmed.

After taking a sour look at the Southern Association batting average at the box office, released by President Hurth this week, Mann put his cards on the table.

"Let's face it," he said. "The league can't continue to operate with that kind of turnout."

That kind of turnout was only 234,705 paying customers for the first 126 games played in the Southern. The total constitutes a 20 per cent drop from 1955, which was by no means a banner year.

Mann didn't amplify his statement. But there has been talk of realignment in the minors for several seasons. And 1956 could easily be the last year the Southern operates with its current members.

AROUND THE BASES — Bill George, who didn't win a game until June for two seasons as a Cracker, already has banked four victories at Shreveport. However, Joe Piercey, his old Cracker roommate, hasn't fared so well. Piercey got the ax at Houston and, finding no offers from other clubs, has indicated he'll pitch semi-pro ball in Minot, N.D. . . . Gerry MacKay, the Birmingham Baron Canadian, chilled the Crackers with three homers and seven RBI in the opening game this year. MacKay then hit only two homers and drove in eight runs in the next 30 games. . . . While being sidelined with a pulled leg muscle, the Crackers' Dick Sinovic has moved up as the Southern's No. 2 hitter with a .364 mark. . . . Comeback of the year: Marv Rotblatt, who's already won two games for Little Rock. . . . Ex-Cracker Murray Wall injured his toe pitching batting practice at Dallas and will be out at least a week. . . . Ex-Birmingham Baron Al Cicotte has reaped five of lowly Richmond's six victories this season in the International League.

Duke Snider, author of the Collier's article "I Play Baseball for Money," must be playing for fun this year. Latest N.L. averages list the Duke at .221. . . . And speaking of slumps, Atlantan Jim Greengrass is hitting only .189 for the Phils. And speaking of the Phils, it looks like a long summer for Mayo Smith, Whit Wyatt and Co., who are battling the Cubs for the N.L. basement.

Jim Basso, a '53 Cracker flychaser, has slipped all the way to Carlsbad, New Mexico. . . . And did you notice that Bob Giggie, a three-term resident at Poncey, recently flipped a one-hitter for Wichita against Louisville? . . . Ebba St. Claire, a favorite here in 1950, now catching for San Diego of the Coast League. . . . Washington Senators, who seldom have anything to celebrate, observed Cuban Independence Day the other day. And the Boston Red Sox even spoiled that ceremony by beating Camilo Pascual, 5-3. . . . Bob Turley, who hasn't won a game for the Yankees this year, is out with a story in Look mag titled "Win or Else with the Yankees."

Wininger Leads in K.C.

KANSAS CITY, May 18 (AP)—Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, kept the pressure on the rest of the pros with a score of 133 at the halfway mark today in the $22,000 Kansas City Open golf tournament.

Wininger's 69 today and his 64 yesterday left him four strokes ahead of nine players grouped at 137.

The top 20 scorers:

Bo Wininger, 64-69—133; Fred Hawkins, 73-64—137; Arnold Palmer, 68-69—137; Don January, 67-70—137; Ted Kroll, 69-68—137; Billy Maxwell, 67-70—137; Bob Rosburg, 68-69—137; Al Balding, 68-69—137; Dow Finsterwald, 68-69—137; Dick Mayer, 69-68—137; Jack Burke, 70-68—138.

Willett, Jordan Gain DH Semis

Frank Willett defeated Jim Winstead, 6-2, 6-2, and Jack Jordan defeated Ned Neely, 6-2, 7-5, to enter the semifinals of the Druid Hills invitational tennis tournament scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday. Finals will be Sunday at 2.

In doubles, Willett and Howard McCall defeated Sean O'Callahon and Vince Connerat, 12-10, 6-0, and Winstead and Bob Nichols defeated Morris Krome and Harold Gibson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Doubles semifinals will be played at 4 p.m. Saturday and finals Sunday at 4.

Larsen Y-Flyer Regatta Starts Today

By BILL ALLEN

The annual Larsen Trophy regatta for Y-Flyer small-yachtsmen opens Saturday at the Atlanta Yacht Club site on Allatoona Lake with more than 30 craft expected to compete.

Defending champion Don Dutton will not be present and competition for the trophy is expected to be tougher than ever in the three-race event.

Among Atlantans expected to battle for the coveted early-spring Larsen title will be Britt Pendergrast, Roy Fricks, Dave Blackshear, Pete Tenney, Bill Berry, Spencer Boyd, Dale Koozer, Carl Owens, Tommy Willingham and Smitty Smithfield and several others. 10 or 15 non-Atlanta boats from throughout the south are expected.

The event will be decided as are all regattas, on point totals after three races are run. The first two will be held Saturday morning and evening. The final and deciding race will be held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, after which races for the Snipe and Moth fleets will also be held.

The Larsen is a warm-up for the important Y-Flyer class internationl championships to be held here August 1-9.

IN OUR CHURCHES: SA Week To Celebrate Years of Aid

By KAY McLEOD

National Salvation Army Week begins Sunday.

The Atlanta Corps will join in celebrating the organization's progress in helping the nation's unfortunates.

An announcement and a letter of commendation from President Eisenhower and proclamations by Gov. Griffin and Mayor Hartsfield and other governmental officials have cited the many services offered by the 76-year-old organization.

Eisenhower expressed the wish that the Salvation Army may continue "to serve God and our country as well in the future as they have in the past."

SPECIAL APPEARANCES

The week in Atlanta will find Salvation Army musical groups and speakers making many special appearances in civic clubs and churches.

Vocal groups will appear at the First Church of the Nazarene and Mt. Paran Baptist Church Sunday. Brig. William T. Powell will speak at the First Christian Church Wednesday. The Civic Club of West End and the West End Women's Club will hear musical groups Wednesday.

Maj. Ray Brown will speak at Thursday's meeting of the West End Kiwanis Club and Friday's meeting of the Downtown Lions Club.

ACTIVITIES HERE

The Atlanta program of the Salvation Army includes five corps centers, two large boys clubs. Organizations operating in conjunction with the Army's welfare department include the Women's Emergency Home at 362 Boulevard, the Mountain View Camp, and the Dormitory for Transient Men in the Argonne Hotel.

Atlanta records reveal that last year 526 open air services and 13,022 indoor services were held. The welfare department provides family casework service to an average of 260 families monthly.

The Women's Emergency Home cared for 564 individuals, including 212 children, in 1955. The men's dormitory served 3,309.

More than 200,000 young people attended the two boys clubs. During the past Christmas season, 25,753 received some form of Christmas cheer as a result of donations placed in Salvation Army kettles.

The Salvation Army is a member agency of the Atlanta Community Chest.

VISITS TO CHILDREN'S WARDS

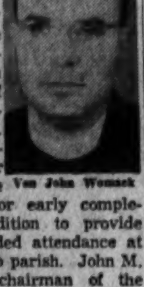
Holy Cross Building

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a $9,000 educational building will be held Sunday morning at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Cross.



Ven John Womack

The first dirt will be turned by the Venerable John Lee Womack, archdeacon on the Diocese of Atlanta and vicar of Holy Cross.

Bennie Eubanks, senior warden, said the contract calls for early completion of the addition to provide room for expanded attendance at the South DeKalb parish. John M. Royall Sr. is chairman of the building committee.

Redeemer Program

"Candles That Don't Go Out" will be the subject of the Rev. Robert E. Lee's confirmation address at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

As part of the service of the 11 boys and girls who are being confirmed will light a candle which symbolizes the light of Christ.

Delinquency Fight

The Morningside Baptist Church has scheduled a week of services for the purpose of counteracting juvenile and parental delinquency.

Judge Woolfolk

Dr. James P. Wesberry, pastor, will begin the week's services Sunday morning with a message entitled "Making Home What It Ought to Be."

God's Laws Observed In Nature

QUESTION: Do you believe we can come to believe in God from what we see in nature alone?—C.F.H.

ANSWER: The Bible tells us: "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth His handiwork." By the things we see all around us we must come to a speculative knowledge of God. The wonders of nature did not and do not just happen. There are laws governing all of God's creation and these laws are evident on every hand.

If you say, yes, but we believe nature has its own laws and that they act independently of any God. But, who made these laws? If you find a watch lying on the street you know some one made that watch, it did not just happen to be a watch. When you see the world around you, you are forced to believe that a great creative genius is back of this world.

But, God has not left us to mere speculation. He has given us the Bible in which we learn that: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." In that same Bible we find that God created man and that He created him for companionship with Himself. But, sin came into the world and man was separated from God.

God did something about that too—He gave us a Redeemer to cleanse us from sin and its consequences and restore the broken fellowship with Himself. Also, God has sent His Holy Spirit into the world. I believe His Spirit is speaking to your heart right now. Give your heart and life to Christ—He will do the rest.

Celebrate 8 Years

A full day of activities this Sunday will mark the eighth anniversary of the North Decatur Methodist Church.

The Rev. George R. Holden, pastor, will speak of "The Birth of the Church" at the morning worship hour. Dinner on the grounds will follow. An old-fashioned song service will be held during the afternoon.

The pastor and his wife will hold open house for new members at the parsonage at 4 p.m.

The Rev. Reese Griffin Jr., first pastor of the church, will bring the evening message at 8 p.m.

In the eight years since its founding, the church has grown from 74 to 600 members.

Are All Laxatives Alike?

A Lot of People Think So but They Aren't.
Here are Some Interesting Things About Them:

1. Some laxatives act only on the large intestine, while others act on the small intestine.

2. If the large intestine is constipated and you take a laxative that acts principally on the small intestine the results will be incomplete and disappointing.

3. Likewise, if the trouble is in the small intestine and you take a laxative that acts only on the large intestine you cannot expect full and complete relief.

4. Most cases of constipation affect both the large and small intestines, so if your laxative acts on only one you are doing a half-way job.

5. Some laxatives contain carminatives that allay griping and nausea—others do not.

The foregoing explains why so many people get incomplete results when they take a laxative, and why they suffer from griping and nausea.

Thanks to Calotabs you can get in one pleasant, sugar-coated tablet a combination of laxative medicines that act on every inch of BOTH the LARGE and SMALL intestines. Calotabs also contain two of the most effective carminatives known to medical science. Therefore, Calotabs are thorough and dependable, and act without griping, nausea and other unpleasant effects. Over-night Calotabs relieve biliousness, sour stomach, bloating and headache due to faulty elimination.

Get a 30c package of Calotabs from your nearest drug counter and use them as directed when you need relief from constipation. Join the thousands of others who have found Calotabs to be their first choice as a laxative because they thoroughly act on BOTH the LARGE and SMALL intestines. Your money will be gladly refunded if you are not delighted with Calotabs. (adv.)

Dispirited Stocks Lower at Gong

Steels and Aircrafts Drag; Tobacco Issues Rise a Bit

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—There wasn't much spirit in the stock market today, and it declined mildly after a modest early rise.

The market managed to carry ahead until late in the day when gentle selling was enough to turn the price trend down and bring about a slightly lower finish.

There weren't many features. Tobacco stocks jumped on light demand as Liggett & Myers raised the wholesale price on its king-sized Chesterfields.

L.&M. closed up ½ at 68¼, American Tobacco added 1 at 80¾ after hitting a high of 83 and R. J. Reynolds was up 2 at 55⅞.

Kennecott Copper raised its dividend to a $6 annual basis and declared a $1 special. The stock forged ahead immediately to a high of 133 and closed at 132⅜ up 3⅞.

Most major divisions were mixed or lower. Going down were steels, rubbers, aircrafts, radio-televisions, railroads, oils and building materials. Utilities were higher.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 20 cents at $185.30. Industrial component backed down 20 cents, railroads were off 70 cents, but utilities were up 20 cents.

SCATTERED RAIN — WASHINGTON, May 18 — Rain is expected over the Appalachians, middle Atlantic states, Tennessee and central Mississippi and eastern Ohio Valleys, Rockies, Great Basin and Sierra range. It will be cooler in the upper Mississippi Valley and from the Lakes southward to the Ohio Valley, with little change elsewhere.

Lockheed Is Adding Fla. Office

Lockheed Aircraft Corp's. Georgia Division announced, Friday it is taking over an aircraft engineering office which was being closed by another company, Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., in St. Augustine, Fla.

It is expected that this office will work in conjunction with the company's recently announced nuclear aircraft project being established near Dawsonville.

Lockheed's nuclear research operations, which have been carried on jointly in Marietta and Burbank, Calif., are set for consolidation at the Georgia Division this summer.

Dan Haughton, Lockheed vice president and general manager of the Georgia Division, said Friday his division had been considering the opening of such an office in Florida for some time, but had made no decision.

Then, he said, upon learning of the closing of the Fairchild office, Lockheed decided, to take "this opportunity to take over an already-established aircraft engineering force staffed by competent aircraft engineers."

He said a large number of the 33 engineers in the Florida office have already accepted offers of employment with Lockheed, and expressed hope that the remainder would do so, too.

Haughton added that "additional details of the Lockheed Florida operations are not available at this time."

D. I. Dawson Dies; Liberty Official, State Ex-Senator

HINESVILLE, May 18—Funeral services for D. I. Dawson, former state senator and Liberty County official, were held Friday at the Bumbranch Baptist Church near Hinesville. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Dawson served as a county and state official for 32 years, holding county offices of tax collector and clerk of court in addition to senator's office. He was also chairman of the board of trustees of Bradwell Institute here, and was moderator of the local Baptist Assn., for a number of years.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. H. A. Harris, Mrs. H. N. Stafford, Mrs. S. W. Hendry, Hinesville, and Mrs. E. G. Grey, Savannah; and a son, Walter E. Dawson, Atlanta.

MORTUARY

STEPHEN M. LESTER

Graveside services for Stephen Michael Lester, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Lester, 231 Cheryl Ln., College Park, who died Friday in a private hospital, will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at Hillcrest Cemetery. The Rev. T. H. Perkins will officiate.

Cmdr. Bradbury Killed in Wreck; Funeral Sunday

BOGART, May 18—Funeral services for Cmdr. Malcom Jarrett Bradbury, Bogart native who died May 13 at Port Lyautey French Morocco, from injuries received in an automobile wreck, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Bogart Methodist Church.

Chaplain H. H. Wells, Dr. Dow Kirkpatrick and the Rev. James McNeil, will officiate.

Cmdr. Bradbury, 37, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Floy Nunn Bradbury; two daughters, Sabra Ann Bradbury and Mara Jan Bradbury; a son, John Bradbury; mother, Mrs. Maggie Jarrett Bradbury of Bogart; four sisters, Mrs. Mary B. Perryman of Hollywood, Calif., Mrs. W. Roy Dean and Mrs. O. E. Wilkins of Atlanta, and Mrs. L. H. Christian of Athens, and a brother, Hinton Bradbury of Bogart.

Cmdr. Bradbury was valedictorian of his class at Bogart High School when he was graduated at the age of 15. A graduate of the University of Georgia Law School, he was the youngest member of the Georgia Legislature during the administration of former Gov. Ellis Arnall.

Entering the Navy the day after Pearl Harbor, Cmdr. Bradbury remained in the service until the time of his death. He served as officer in charge at the trial following the grounding of the USS Missouri.

Cent-a-Pack Rise For Cigarettes Held in Offing

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—A price boost of a cent a package at retail for cigarettes probably by next week was predicted today by a spokesman for United Cigars-Whelan Stores, Inc., following a raise in the wholesale price by Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Liggett & Myers has announced that effective today the wholesale price of Chesterfield regular and kingsize cigarettes would be increased 45 cents on all shipments —a boost of 9 cents a carton, roughly a penny a pack.

Mrs. Fritz Wagner, Daughter Of Joel Chandler Harris, Dies

LAGRANGE, May 18 (AP)—Mrs. Fritz Wagner Sr., 74, daughter of the late Joel Chandler and Esther La Rose Harris, died late today at her home here, 319 Country Club Rd., after suffering declining health for a year.

Funeral will be Monday at 9 a.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church, with the Rev. Norman F. Rockwood C. SS. R., pastor, conducting the service.

Burial will be in Shadowlawn Cemetery here.

A native of Atlanta, Mrs. Wagner moved to LaGrange in 1915. She was a member of St. Peter's Church and the Pioneer Bridge Club here.

Survivors are her husband, Fritz Wagner Sr., LaGrange; a daughter, Mrs. James N. Grant Sr., Charlotte, N.C.; a son, Fritz Wagner Jr., Gainesville; two grandchildren, James N. Grant Jr., Charlotte, and Fritz Wagner III, Gainesville; a sister, Mrs. Edwin Camp, Atlanta, and four brothers, Julian, Evelyn, Lucian and Joel Chandler Harris Jr., all of Atlanta.

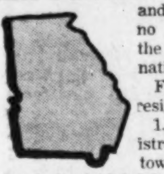
13th Berry Teacher Quits, Hits 'Folly'

Edward Franze, charging Berry College's administrative policy is "suicidal," resigned Thursday as assistant professor of English. He is the 12th teacher to resign this term from the famed school near Rome.



Dean S. H. Cook, head of the school's advisory committee, refused to discuss Franze's charges and said he had no comment on the wave of resignations.

Franz said he resigned because:

1. The administration's policy toward the faculty is "suicidal folly."

2. The administration "displays a deeply shocking apathy" toward the college's primary problem of accreditation.

3. The administrative attitude toward the faculty and students is often patronizing, "sometimes to the point of implying contempt."

4. The administration "apparently wishes to maintain the educational status quo indefinitely."

"The principles on which the Berry Schools were founded are as sound in 1956 as they were in 1902," Franze said. "The methods of implementing and advancing these principles have changed. Current policy does not seem to make this distinction."

Williams of Griffin was elected president of the Georgia Elks Assn. at the fraternal organization's annual convention at Albany Friday. Among others named was Russell Miller of Atlanta, vice president of the northern division. . . . Laurens County Sheriff Carlus Gay announced the capture Friday of Frank Weaver in Jacksonville, Fla., the fifth of nine escapees who escaped from the Laurens work camp last Sunday. . . . The State Democratic Executive Committee's contest group has announced hearings at Savannah Wednesday on protests from the Long County Good Government League and from R. E. Forsyth of Cedartown. The Long County protest concerns alleged violations on election day last year. The Polk County protest concerns alleged irregularities in the primary this year.

Dulles Trip To Georgia Is Canceled

Constitution State News Service

GAINESVILLE, May 18—Secy. of State Dulles has been forced to cancel his appearance at the annual Georgia Poultry Festival here Saturday. In his place the State Department is sending Asst. Secy. Robert C. Hill.

But more than a dozen Senate colleagues of Sen. Walter F. George, together with several Georgia congressmen, will fly to Gainesville to take part in a tribute to the retiring Georgia senator.

A banquet was held in the Civic Building Friday night, honoring poultry buyers from throughout the nation, Cuba and Canada who were attending the festival.

Opening attractions of the fourth annual festival were open houses held by poultry plants, feed mills and hatcheries in the north Georgia broiler area.

Saturday's activities will center about the tribute to Sen. George. The attending dignitaries, including Sen. George, will lead the festival parade through Gainesville's business district. The parade will lead the celebrants to a city park where a chicken barbecue will be held.

The parade will consist of more than 40 floats and 15 bands and marching units.

A crowd of 8,000 is expected at the barbecue. Some 4,000 Georgia broilers will be prepared to feed the throng.

Speeches honoring George will be made following the barbecue.

MISS GEORGIA CHICK
GAINESVILLE, May 18. Mary Ruff of Columbia, S.C., was named Miss Georgia Chick at the annual State Poultry Festival here. Miss Ruff, a student at Gainesville's Brenau College, now is eligible for the Miss Universe contest. Runner-up was Tony Eidson of Cumming and third-place winner was Keith Bacon of Gainesville.

WSB GIVEN SCROLL FOR WAR MARKER

Yankees Tour Battlefields Here, Hail Gen. Johnson

After a day of scouting over battlegrounds, a group of Northern Civil War fans arrived in Atlanta Friday full of praise for a Southern general.

"What I've seen convinces me that Gen. Joe Johnson was one of the greatest generals the South had," said Harold Hixson, president of the nationally famous Chicago Civil War Round Table.

Hixson and 54 members of the CCWRT have banded with members of the Atlanta Civil War Round Table for a tour of Chattanooga-to-Atlanta campaign battlefields that ends Saturday with an inspection of the Cyclorama.

Carl Haverlin, president of the Civil War Centennial Assn., said Gen. Johnson, who commanded the Southern troops until he was relieved shortly before the Battle of Atlanta, was the dominant personality in the campaign.

Haverlin presented J. Leonard Reinsch, director of the Cox radio and television properties, a scroll honoring placement of a historic marker at White Columns, new home of WSB Radio—WSB-TV, the site of a Southern camp on the eve of the Battle of Peachtree Creek.

Haverlin termed this tour, the CCWRT's sixth, the most successful. "I wish the Southerners of 1864 had been as considerate (to the Yankees) as the ones we've met on this trip," he laughed.

A group of youngsters at the Resaca battlefield missed an opportunity of a lifetime when the group arrived there Friday, one CCWRT member revealed. "They were selling us Minie balls for a nickel each," he said. "If they had known it, we'd given them 50 cents."

Gala Social Occasion Opens Big Annual Trade Fair Here

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Decked out in tuxedos, white dinner jackets and formal gowns—almost rivaling opening night of the Met at the Fox Theater—several hundred guests witnessed the formal opening of the first annual International Industrial Exposition at Lakewood Park Friday night.

And the formal attire was all the more dramatic and colorful at Lakewood — an amusement park—more frequently associated with somewhat more casual dress.

Harllee Branch Jr., president of Georgia Power Co. and one of the speakers at the opening ceremony, told the invited throng, "This exposition will focus renewed attention on Georgia and the South as outstanding new markets for industrial products."

DIXIE ON DISPLAY

At this exposition, he continued, "We are putting our great industrial assets and accomplishments on display, and we are doing so none too soon."

Lamenting the almost complete lack of this type of promotion in Dixie up to this time, Branch lauded the trade show for "putting our wares on display not only for our own citizens but for the entire country and the world at large to see.

"This is truly an international exposition," he added, "and one of which we can be proud." He predicted its growth in size and importance as an annual event.

RIBBON CUTTING

The formal ribbon-cutting ceremony opening the week-long show was done by Miss Miriam Mathews Sanders, a descendant of Revolutionary War Gen. George Mathews, a three-time governor of Georgia.

She accomplished the task with a saber provided by her Marine escort, S.Sgt. Larry Weber of the 6th Marine Corps Reserve District headquarters in Atlanta.

The guests Friday evening, who toured the exhibit halls following the ceremony, included foreign embassy and consular corps members, a number of high-ranking officials in the Southeastern states, and prominent civic and business leaders and their wives.

50,000 BUYERS

More than 120 exhibitors from 22 states and nine foreign countries are taking part in the trade show, which is expected to draw up to 50,000 buyers to Atlanta from Latin-American countries and the Southeastern states.

The largest single exhibit—taking up approximately one-third of the entire floor space at the exposition—is that of the Chrysler Corp.'s Dodge Division.

The largest exhibit ever assembled by Dodge for display purposes outside of Detroit, it features 15 cars, 10 trucks and a number of action exhibits.

This One Bad Turn Dis-serves Another

The lady walked up to the police station captain's office and announced she would like to pay a fine for her husband who was in jail.

"What's the charge?" asked Capt. R. E. Flournoy.

She hesitated a moment, smiled brightly and said:

"Traffic. He made an important turn."

The record showed a fine of $40 imposed for "improper turn."

Drive Eyed As Teeners Lag on Salk

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

More than 220,000 children in Fulton and DeKalb counties have already received Salk polio vaccine shots—but an "intensive effort" must be made to get teenagers here vaccinated, local health officials said Friday.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Fulton-DeKalb chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Dr. James F. Hackney, deputy director of the Fulton County Health Department, said more than 65 per cent of those in the 1-14 age group have been given shots.

But those in the 15-19 age group were not coming in for shots the way we would like," Dr. Hackney said.

SPECIAL EFFORT

"It's sometimes hard to persuade that age group," he noted. "and we must make a special effort to get these older teen-agers vaccinated."

Dr. Hackney said 170,415 shots of polio vaccine have been given in Fulton County to date.

Dr. T. O. Vinson, director of the DeKalb County Health Department, said more than 50,000 youngsters in DeKalb County have received polio vaccine to date.

Only four cases of polio have been reported in the two counties (three in Fulton and one in DeKalb) to date—compared with 25 reported at this time last year.

FORIO ELECTED

Edgar J. Forio was elected new chairman of the Fulton-DeKalb chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, succeeding Jesse Draper.

Other officers elected are: Ben Burgess, Jesse Draper, Charles J. Lyon, Virgil W. Milton, Mrs. Horace Powell and Fred J. Turner, vice chairmen; Jim Cherry, secretary; Baxter Maddox, treasurer, and Miss Anna Kothe, executive director.

Forio was presented an award of merit for his work as chairman of the 1956 March of Dimes for Georgia. Fred Moore, Fulton County chairman, and Charles J. Lyon, DeKalb County chairman, were presented citations.

HOPES FOR CUT

Maddox said the chapter is counting on a reduction of 25 to 27 per cent in polio patients this year in its 1956 budget.

Cherry stressed the importance of educating the public "as to the necessity of vaccinating children against polio without delay."

W. Kelly Mosley was named to lead the March of Dimes in Fulton County next year. Lyon again will lead the drive in DeKalb.

New members elected to the board of directors of the Fulton-DeKalb chapter are: Mrs. O. J. Bray, Mrs. Sidney Cavalier, Mrs. G. J. Kilpatrick, Mrs. H. Armin Maier Jr., Ben Massell, Charles Mathias, W. Kelly Mosley, and W. H. Thomas.

Federation of Women's Clubs Outlines Policy for Coming Year

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 18. The policy to be followed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs during the coming year was laid down by resolutions adopted at the 65th annual convention.

It was further specified in an interview with Mrs. Robert I. C. Prout of Wakefield, Mich., incoming president.

Most of the resolutions were adopted unanimously in the form proposed by the federation's policy committee.

The convention has been attended by 2,000 delegates representing 11,000,000 women in 13,600 clubs here and abroad. These delegates also voted to develop a legislative program based on the policies adopted.

These policies included opposition to sensational covers, titles and contents of paperback books and magazines. They also called for a study of the effect on children of salacious literature, crime and horror comic books, and radio, television and movies.

The delegates voted to urge state and local federations to work toward obtaining uniform state legislation concerning marriage and divorce.

A resolution advocating humane methods of slaughtering food animals was adopted in modified form. As voted, it endorsed the objective of reform in methods and asked club members to inquire into conditions in their own communities.

SCIENTISTS

Other resolutions on domestic matters called for measures to recruit and train additional scientists and active participation by members in civil defense.

In international affairs, the convention endorsed opening prayers at meetings of the United Nations, hemispheric solidarity and the international exchange of students, teachers and leaders.

Mrs. Prout, a former schoolteacher, said that established projects of the federation will be continued under her administration.

Special attention, she said, will be given to the handicapped in health, the mentally ill, the American Indians, refugees and displaced persons.

LEADERSHIP CLINICS

Mrs. Prout said she will also urge state federations to interest extension departments of universities in developing annual institutes in adult education and leadership training clinics.

She hopes to interest the members, too, in the comparative study of the religions of the world, "as an avenue of approach to understanding the cultures and history of mankind."

Better understanding of the religions of the world, she said, will result in more understanding and sympathy for the peoples of the world, and be an important factor in preserving peace.

TREE DEDICATED Atlanta Woman's Club retiring president, Mrs. W. Beverly Johnson, right, was honored at the annual meeting when a magnolia tree was planted on the club grounds in her name. Mrs. Swift Tyler, chairman of the garden division of the club, at left, made the presentation for her group. A luncheon honoring Mrs. Johnson followed.

Vandiver, Greer Troth Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Mark R. Corley announce the engagement of Mrs. Corley's daughter, Miss Vernice Elovoyce Vandiver, to Lowry Thomas Greer, son of Mrs. Virginia Greer of Atlanta.

The wedding is scheduled for June 10 at the West End Baptist Church.

Both the bride-elect and her fiance are graduates of Brown High School. She attended Georgia State College of Business Administration where she was vice president of the freshman class, and belonged to the student council and the Delta Zeta Sorority. She is now employed by Shell Oil Co.

Mr. Greer is attending evening school at Georgia Tech. He is associated with the Georgia Power Co.

Miss Steed To Be Wed

MILLEN May 18—Mrs. Herbert H. Edenfield announces the engagement of her sister, Miss Alice Frank Steed of Lincolnton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beck Steed, to Robert Clarence Stephens of Wrens, son of Charles W. Stephens and the late Mrs. Stephens. The wedding will take place at the Lincolnton Baptist Church on June 17.

Mount Vernon PTA To Install Officers Tuesday

Mrs. W. E. White will be installed as president of the Mount Vernon PTA at the organization's final meeting of the year Tuesday, May 22, at 8:30 p.m.

Other officers to be installed include Mrs. Howard Foster, vice president; Mrs. J. E. Mayes, secretary, and Mrs. W. T. Hester, treasurer.

Officers will be installed by Mrs. H. W. Wilson.

The Mount Vernon dance group, under the direction of Miss Mary Alice Burns, will present a feature number, "The Sweetheart Waltz."

Colonial Dames Group To Meet Tuesday

Members of the Atlanta Town Committee of the Colonial Dames of America meet at 3 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, at the Atlanta Historical Society instead of at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Fleming as previously announced.

ATLANTANS on the beach at Sea Island are Kiliaen Townsend, right, Mrs. Townsend and her brother, Willis Everett Jr., who are members of the cottage colony at the resort. The little umbrellas are the Italian variety which have become the rage on the French Riviera.

HOME PARK STUDENTS PRESENT THEIR IDEA OF A GOOD AMERICAN

10 Laws Define Good American

By AGNES GAINES

What makes a good American?

The students at the Home Park Elementary School have found the answer to this question in their "10 Laws of a Good American."

At the meeting of the PTA Tuesday night, the students of two seventh grades recited and defined their idea of a good American.

The laws were prepared by the students as an assignment in character building, under the direction of Miss Ann Davis and Mrs. Katharine B. Conner, the seventh grade teachers.

HEALTH, SELF-CONTROL

The laws deal with health, self-control, self-reliance, reliability, clean play, duty, good workmanship, team work, kindness and loyalty.

These students do not limit their belief in this code to the stage, however. The 10 laws are carried out consistently by the students in their everyday behavior. Mrs. Conner proudly said of her students, "We rarely ever have behavior problems here. The students seem to feel the laws and the program helps prepare them to be good citizens when they leave the school."

The program was opened by the Lord's Prayer, followed by the Pledge of Decency by the 60 students. Then the laws were explained by the individual students.

DISPLAYED ON EASEL

Posters containing the laws were displayed on an easel as each new law was introduced.

Thomas Mankin, a ministerial student, spoke briefly to the group on living up to the laws. He was introduced by his brother, Sammy, who participated in the program.

Musical selections sung by the group were "I Believe," "He," and the closing prayer, "Lord, I Pray Thee." Diane Rickerson, a seventh grade student, accompanied the singing on the piano.

After the program, PTA officers were installed. Archie L. Lindsey, immediate past president of the PTA, presided.

New officers include Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand, president; Mrs. Lindsey Vaugh, first vice president; Mrs. J. A. Carrier, second vice president; Mrs. Marcus L. Dye, recording secretary; Mrs. J. K. Gladden, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William F. Atchison, treasurer.

A repeat performance of the program was given for the student body at the school the following morning.

Add Color Note To Accessories

Today let's think about accessories for travel clothes. Of course your accessories depend primarily on your clothes—so it is wise to choose colors with which you may wear the same accessory color—all black, all navy, all brown, as the case may be.

Then, for a change, add a pair of red shoes and a red bag. I myself find these a solution to nearly everything in traveling. You can wear them with tweeds for travel; with daytime clothes in big cities; or with cotton and sports clothes for country week-ends and at resorts.

Miss Hale, William Hill Are Married

At an afternoon ceremony solemnized Friday at the bride's home on Sewell road, Miss Melba Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hale, was married to William A. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hill of Hookerton, N.C.

The Rev. Pat Johnson, pastor of the West Manor Baptist Church, officiated in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. A reception followed the ceremony.

The bride, wearing a waltz-length dress of white lace and carrying a Bible adorned with white camellias, was attended by Mrs. Roy Withers as matron of honor.

Robert L. Hill was best man for his brother.

Mrs. Hill is attending graduate school in the Basic Sciences Division at Emory University.

Mr. Hill is employed in the legal department of Gulf Oil Corp. After a brief wedding trip, he and his bride will reside at 2080 N. Decatur Rd.

Homes in Highlands Beckon Atlantans

With the golf course at Highlands Country Club, Highlands, N.C., opening this weekend, and the season getting under way in earnest by June 1, Atlantans are opening their summer homes and getting them in shape for the hot months.

Mr. and Mrs. James White will pile their golf clubs into their car and leave on Sunday for their home, Apple Hill, taking as their guests Mr. and Mrs. William T. Healey, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Healey, Mr. and Mrs. Fonville McWhorter and John Westmoreland. The party will try out the golf course and relax for a few days, returning home on Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Green Warren left Wednesday for Highlands to get their summer home in readiness, and Mrs. Don Warren of Memphis, who is spending some time in Atlanta, left earlier in the week. She will be joined today by Mr. Warren, who will entertain a group of Memphis business executives at their Highlands home next week.

A CARAVAN of Alpha Xi Delta alumnae will head for Athens on Monday in anticipation of a meeting in the "Little Red Caboose" belonging to the University of Georgia's Dean Edith Stallings, who is a member of the sorority's National Council.

This meeting is an annual event to which members look forward from one year to the next. A buffet supper will follow in the caboose. Mrs. Lewis A. Young is arranging for transportation to Athens.

MRS. COCKE CUNNINGHAM will board a plane today for Miami, where she will be met by those former Atlantans, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Craft. She will spend next week with the Crafts at their new home at Pompano Beach and aboard their boat on the Inland Waterway.

IT IS EASTER LILY TIME in Bermuda, according to Mr. and Mrs. John Conner, who with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conner, are vacationing there for two weeks.

EN ROUTE TO HER HOME in Portland, Ore., from a visit to relatives in Jacksonville and Macon, Mrs. Charles E. Draper stopped in Atlanta for a brief visit to her good friend, Mrs. William H. Mills, on Elmwood drive.

GREAT PREPARATIONS are under way at the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity house in Athens, for more than 600 guests are expected today for the chapter's annual barbecue.

"Old grads" returning for the festivities will begin registering at the chapter house at 1 o'clock, and the barbecue will be served at 3. Crowning of the "Crescent Girl" at the Crescent Girl ball to be held in the Georgian Hotel ballroom this evening will climax the day's events. Fourteen candidates, each sponsored by a sorority on the University of Georgia campus, will vie for the honor, and the winner will reign as "Sweetheart of Lambda Chi" during the coming school year. She will succeed Miss Carolann Conner, last year's "Crescent Girl."

Dr. Lee Tuttle of Charlotte, Grand High Delta member of the Grand High Zeta, will be guest speaker at the barbecue.

ATLANTANS attending the annual convention of the Georgia Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs now in progress at the Bon Air Hotel in Augusta are Mrs. F. M. Griffin, Mrs. Louise Patrick, Mrs. A. H. Gunnin, Mrs. Doris Thompson, Mrs. Paul Travis, Mrs. L. B. Lawrence and Miss Laura Sampler. They represent the Tri-City B. and P. W. Club of East Point and College Park.

THE NEW PATIO at the Oak Grove road home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Sutton Jr. was christened last evening when their daughter, Sandra, entertained her fellow members of the sixth grade at W. D. Thomson School at the end-of-school roundup.

A decorative motif of wagon wheels and lanterns set the keynote for the party, with guests wearing blue jeans, plaid shirts and whirling skirts. Assisting in entertaining were Sandra's grandmother, Mrs. N. T. Moore; her teacher, Mrs. J. Blackburn; Mr. and Mrs. William McCane, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Don Holmes.

A Rhyme a Day

"The small-taxpayer is just as important as those in the high-income brackets and his service to the country as meaningful as the deeds of the pioneers."—Article quote.

It's somewhat disconcerting when . . . you think of what you might have been . . . you've heard and read so much about . . . some man who was an Indian scout . . . out on the lonesome Western plains . . . when Jesse James was robbing trains . . . or played the flute in Sousa's band . . . or Custer in his final stand.

You think perhaps you might have been . . . one of these well-remembered men . . . although you never played the flute . . . or spent long hours in pursuit . . . of Indians, or rode the plains . . . to catch the men who robbed the trains.

The world can get along without . . . the flutist and the Indian scout . . . but taxes always will be due . . . your country still has need of you . . . since all of those have passed away . . . and left you with the bills to pay.

$192,000 Apartments Approved

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Permit for 64 additional apartment units costing $192,000 at 1530 Amanda St., NE, was issued Friday by Building Inspector William R. Wofford.

First Street Apartments, Inc., is the owner of the new apartments.

Wofford predicted the value of permits for May will equal the $6,253,622 value for the corresponding month last year, although value of permits for the first five months of 1956 are expected to trail the same period by around $10,000,000.

A spurt of construction in the opening months of 1955 ran values far above the norm for Atlanta, and 1956 values have consistently trailed those for the same months last year.

Thus far this month, permits have been issued for construction valued at $5,746,756, a figure $506,866 less than for May 1955.

10 Petitions Okayed

The Municipal Board of Adjustment Friday approved 10 petitions for variations and held one other petition for further study. Board Chairman Alfred Pitman said a petition affecting a site on Mitchell road near Long Island drive was held for further consideration. All other requests were granted.

Traffic Court Clears Matron in Death of Boy, 7

An Atlanta housewife has been cleared of traffic charges in the death of a 7-year-old boy.

Judge Frank White dismissed a charge of speeding approximately 50 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone which had been booked against Mrs. Lillian Louise Ketcham of 1512 Harbin road, Southwest.

Mrs. Ketcham was identified as the driver of an auto involved in collision with a bicycle ridden by Terry Wayne Duke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duke of 1333 Harbin Rd. The youth was fatally injured.

Judge White said physical facts of the case and the evidence submitted did not bear out a speeding charge and failed to show negligence on the part of the driver.

Civitans Install Col. Wanamaker

Col. George W. Wanamaker has been installed as president of the Druid Hills Civitan Club for the year 1956-57. He succeeds A. A. Franklin.

Other officers are: Jack Fleeman, first vice president; Bill Talley, second vice president, and Roy Scanling, secretary-treasurer.

Col. Wanamaker was honored as the "outstanding member" of the Druid Hills club for the past year.

Youngsters Invited To Reclaim Cycles

Grounded youngsters are invited to an open house at Atlanta police headquarters Saturday.

Those who have lost bicycles and tricycles can look over an assortment of vehicles which police have found abandoned on the streets.

Detective Pinson Hammond will be on hand from 8 a.m., until 4 p.m. Those who can furnish proof of ownership, Hammond said, may ride their machines home.

The unclaimed bicycles and tricycles will be auctioned off in a public sale next Wednesday.

Church Fire Here Perils 4 on Steeple

Flames evidently started by a spark from a welder's torch early Friday swept through part of Morningside Presbyterian Church, causing damage estimated at more than $50,000.

Although the damage was heavy, Dr. Arthur Vann Gibson, pastor, said all scheduled services will be held on time.

The church's $10,000 organ was severely damaged and may be a total loss, Dr. Gibson said. He added if the organ cannot be repaired or replaced before the Sunday services "we'll provide a substitute and go right ahead."

Four steel workers engaged in erecting the frame of a new steeple were trapped by the fire, but managed to leap 10 feet to the roof of the church building, Patrolmen E. P. Newton and P. D. Urban said. The five-story steeple is located in front of the church building at 1411 North Morningside Dr., NE.

Using an aerial ladder, firemen from three companies attempted to confine the flames to the steeple tower. They said considerable damage resulted to the pastor's office on the second floor of the tower building, and the church library, and that flames at one time were breaking out near the main church sanctuary.

W. L. Tippens of Rte. 4, Austell, an employe of the Superior Rigging Co., was quoted as saying sparks from a welder's torch fell into an open shaft. Patrolmen said Tippens obtained a fire extinguisher and attempted unsuccessfully to put out the flames.

Three men, listed as E. W. Born, 21, of 622 Grant St., SE; William Hall, 29, of Marietta, and Ray Hubbard, 36, of 396 Georgia Ave., SE, were working on the steeple, slid down steel beams to the roof of the tower, and then jumped 10 feet across to the roof of the main building. They were not injured.

SALESMAN

I HAVE an exclusive producing territory in Atlanta proper for an energetic man with car, looking for a profitable selling opportunity.
THIS is neither fly-by-night nor seasonal selling.
IT IS permanent sales work with AAA-1 manufacturer with nationally recognized product used and needed in all businesses. We are the leader in our field.
SELLING opportunities with earnings, stability, and future like this are few and far between. Let me prove it to you today. Call AT. 3846 for a personal interview.

ARE YOU THE MAN WE ARE LOOKING FOR?

WE HAVE not yet found the right man to fill an exclusive territory in Atlanta. This is an opportunity for a steady salesman with car who wants a permanent position. Experience in the business machine field is not necessary as we will train you with pay. However, we do want a man with sales experience.
THIS is your chance to join the leader in the business machine field, and progress with us as we expand in a growing market. Call EL. 3966 today for a personal interview.

ATTENTION

ALL ex or present vacuum cleaner salesmen, Fuller Brush men, cookware men, magaziners, insurance agents etc. We have a new deal—Its a push over. Come and see for yourself. Anytime, 90 Edgewood Ave. Ask for Clark.

NO LAY-OFFS

WE NEED part-time or full-time men who need over $100 per week. If you think we are kidding on this, give us a day or 2 of your time for training and we will show you. You control the hours you spend working, we furnish the merchandise on consignment. See Mr. Park, 1369 Spring St., NW., Sat., May 19, 10 a.m.
